Double-jab must for mass gatherings

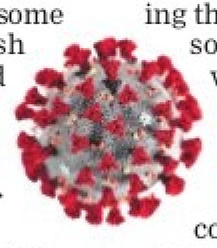
Highest single-day tally of fresh Covid-19 cases in over two months

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

A worried health ministry on Thursday said only those fully vaccinated can attend mass gatherings, if essential, as India recorded its highest single-day tally of fresh Covid cases in more than two months, largely due to the Kerala spike.

Of the Thursday morning's count of 47,092 new cases in the country, 32,803 came from Kerala alone, while Maharashtra was a distant second with 4,456. Union health secretary Rajesh Bhushan said as against 279 districts that were reporting 100 new cases daily in June, the number of such districts came down to 42 as on August 30.

"Kerala is one state that has more than 1 lakh active cases and this number stands at nearly 2.3 lakh as of now. Four states have 10,000 to 1 lakh active cases — Maharashtra, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu and Andhra Pradesh. Rest of the states have less than 10,000 active cases," he said.



However, vaccination is peaking with an average of over 80 lakh daily jabs in the last week of August. V K Paul, member, health, Niti Aayog, said some states like Uttar Pradesh and Bihar had achieved very high rate of vaccinations on a few days last week, pushing the nationwide tally to over 1 crore.

In all, 18.38 crore vaccine doses were administered in August, raising the average daily vaccination to 59.29 lakh doses, up from nearly 43 lakh in July. The government is hoping to take it to nearly 70-75 lakh every day in September when nearly 20-22 crore doses are projected to be available.

Figures shared by the ministry showed that 54% of the total adult population across the country has received at least one dose of a Covid vaccine while 16% of the them have been fully vaccinated.

Paul, however, warned against dropping caution during the upcoming festive season, adding despite the vaccination programme accelerating in the country, precautions must continue.

"The time has not yet come to remove masks," he warned.

"This year too, festivals will be celebrated in the same way as last year. We have to wait more for festivals to be celebrated traditionally," Paul said. He urged people to celebrate festivals like Ganesh Chaturthi, Dussehra and Eid within their families.

Bommai will lead K'taka poll charge in 2023, says Shah

G SUBHASH CHANDRA @ Davanagere

IN a huge endorsement for Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai, Union Home Minister Amit Shah on Thursday declared that the BJP will fight the 2023 Assembly election under the former's leadership, marking a generational shift in Karnataka politics for the party. He also expressed confidence that the BJP will return to power with a clear mandate.

While the party may be prepping to go to polls on Bommai's governance record, it will be banking on senior Lingayat leader B S Yediyurappa's standing in the community as a tall leader, to garner votes. For his part, Yediyurappa will take up a tour of the state come October, to strengthen the party at the grassroots level and galvanise the cadre.

Shah, who was in Davanagere to inaugurate the Police Public School, Gandhi Bhavan, police quarters and also the central library of GM Educational Institutions, lauded Bommai's acumen in administration and experience as a politician saying that it will strengthen the party's position in the state.

"The small but significant steps that Bommai took, like shedding VVIP culture, stopping the guard of honour, bringing transparency in administration, gifting of books, have made him a people-friendly CM and changed the image of the BJP in Karnataka," Shah noted.

Heaping praise on former Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa, Shah said that he took Karnataka on a fast pace of development, which the incumbent CM, Basavaraj Bommai, has taken forward. This clearly demonstrates the BJP's pro-development agenda, he added. Yediyurappa himself decided to make way for a younger person to lead Karnataka and the BJP leadership decided to give the responsibility to Bommai, Shah said.

The Union Home Minister also said that he will hold discussions on internal security and other issues with the CM on a later visit.

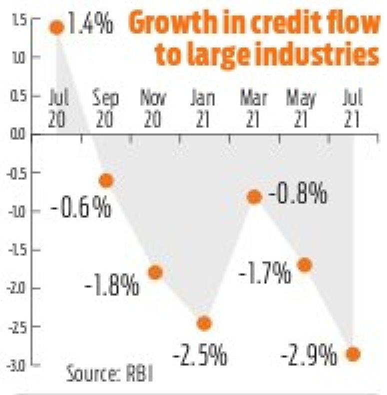
Slump in industrial loans drags overall credit growth, shows RBI data

SESA SEN @ New Delhi

EVEN as India's economy is limping back to normalcy, industrial loans that account for 29.4% of non-food credit are dragging overall credit growth.

Latest RBI data show the industry segment grew just 1% in July 2021 driven by the MSME segment. MSME industries expanded 21.3% in July 2021 helped by the Emergency Credit Line Guarantee Scheme under which 2.14 lakh crore was disbursed.

However, growth in credit flow to large industries saw an unpleasant dip for 11 months in a row. The share of these industries makes up for 80.5% in the total outstanding credit to industry. The segment registered a 2.9% drop in July against 1.4% growth a year ago, underscoring a trend among firms to conserve cash, deleverage as much as possible and leave loan limits sanctioned by lenders underutilised.



Source: RBI

The investment climate in general was not encouraging either. The key sectors that are deleveraging continuously include iron and steel, construction, cement and telecom. Of the total 19 industries, six saw a drop in credit outstanding. Run-down of exposure in a few sectors led to large industry credit consolidating ₹28 lakh crore for the past three years.

On the other hand, petroleum, rubber, plastic and nuclear fuels have been gaining credit momentum. Within the infrastructure segment, airports and roads registered a robust growth of 58.4% and 29.7%, respectively.

Analysts believe industry growth will have to emerge as a key driver to boost credit growth in the coming years. "While it may happen with some lag, revival in consumer demand and rise in government spending can be potential triggers," said analysts at ICICI Securities.

Delhi riots probe was just a waste of money, says court

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

THE Delhi Police's probe into the 2020 communal riots case was 'colossal wastage of the hard-earned money of taxpayers', a court here observed on Thursday while discharging former AAP councillor Tahil Hussain's brother Shah Alam.

"I am not able to restrain myself from observing that when history will look back at the worst communal riots since partition in Delhi, the failure of investigating agency to conduct proper investigation by using latest scientific methods will surely torment the sentinels of democracy," said Additional Sessions Judge Vinod Yadav.

The court noted that there was no CCTV footage of the incident to confirm the presence of the accused at the spot, no independent eye witness, and no evidence regarding the criminal conspiracy.

"This court cannot permit such cases to meander mindlessly in the corridors of judicial system, sweeping away precious judicial time of this court when the same is open and shut case," the judge said.

The court noted that after investigating the matter for so long, the police presented only five witnesses – the victim, duty officer, formal witness, investigating officer, and a constable.

Meanwhile, the Delhi High Court has held that police cannot lodge five FIRs for the same incident and quashed four of them registered for the alleged offences of looting and setting on fire a compound during the north-east Delhi riots last year.

While maintaining one FIR, the HC quashed the other four lodged against the same accused in March last year at Jaffrabad Police Station and all the proceedings emanating therefrom.

Spin in India side selection as Ashwin kept out of Oval office

VENKATA KRISHNA B @ Chennai

EVEN as the whole team was enjoying a deserved break away from the bio-bubbles in June-July, Ravichandran Ashwin had taken to The Oval, to turn up for Surrey in a county match. He warmed up for the Test series against England with a seven-wicket haul.

You couldn't have asked more from a veteran of 413 Test wickets to his name. Preparation? Check. Fitness? Check. To say he was looking forward to this series, after masterminding a sensational series win in Australia, was an understatement.

Forty seven days have gone and as India came back to The Oval, all eyes were on whether Ashwin, who had been benched for the previous three Tests, would make a comeback. More so because the venue was The Oval, one where spinners have ruled the roost. Given England have three left-handers — batsmen Ashwin have for breakfast — in their top-order, it wasn't rocket science. Or so one thought. Playing Ashwin in place of Jadeja, who has just two wickets so far in the series, would have been an ideal move.

But, Ashwin continues to warm the bench and Jadeja continues to play, because India's middle-order is weak and playing the latter gives the team some depth in the middle-order. It might sound strange, but that is how desperate India are — in search of some extra runs, they are willing to sacrifice a spinner, who is known to be attacking and is at the peak of his career. The criticism on social media was hard to miss.

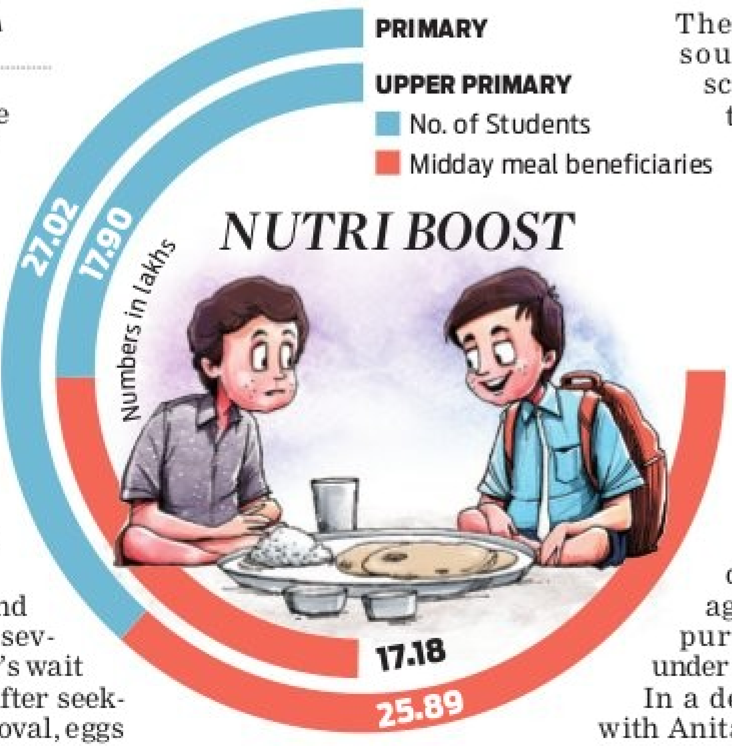
EGGS TO BE PART OF MIDDAY MEALS IN SEVEN DISTRICTS

Team to visit TN to study implementation; 14.4 lakh students to benefit from scheme

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA @Bengaluru



EGGS will finally be part of the midday meal diet in Karnataka schools, albeit in select districts where students face nutritional deficiencies. From this year, as many as 14,44,322 children from seven districts will get an egg every day in their midday meals for 46 school days.

Following a demand by nutritionists for several years, and a year's wait for the department after seeking the Centre's approval, eggs will be part of midday meals for Classes 1 to 8 in government and aided schools in the select districts.

The central government will bear the entire cost of the programme under its flexifund component. The cost is estimated to be Rs 3,953.14 lakh this year, as per officials from the education department.

The department had sought to start the scheme in two districts, but the Centre asked for a rollout in seven. Instead of giving students eggs for 236 days in these districts, the department will only do so up to 46 days, as per the officials.

Commissioner of Public Instruction Anbu Kumar told TNIE that Yadgir, Raichur, Bidar, Ballari, Kalaburagi, Koppal and Vijaypura will be covered under the scheme.

In a department meeting with Anita Karwal, secretary, Department of School Education and Literacy, the state was told to provide supplementary nutrition items in aspirational districts and those with high prevalence of malnutrition -- districts where prevalence of anemia is more as per the National Family Health Survey (NFHS).

As eggs are a sensitive food to be introduced in the diet, education officials of Dharwad and Kalaburagi districts will visit Tamil Nadu to study the implementation of the scheme there.

While the department is planning to increase the number of days when eggs are distributed to 150 in the coming days, there is no indication that eggs will be included in the state-funded midday meal scheme for classes 9 to 10.

A vegetarian alternative is also being finalised, and although an option was sought from the Karnataka Cooperative Milk Producers' Federation Ltd (KMF), a source said that none was received. Hence, the education department is looking at providing energy balls, or alternatives, based on the local taste of the two regions — Dharwad and Kalaburagi.

Non-motorable roads in Anjanapura Layout make commuting a risky affair

After 19 yrs, full-fledged road to come up at BDA's layout

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING repeated demands from Anjanapura site owners, the Bangalore Development Authority (BDA) has decided to construct an 80-feet road through the layout, where sites were allotted 19 years ago.

"The 6.8-km road will be built at a cost of Rs 23 crore. It will be four-lane, extending from Kanakapura Road to Gottigere via Anjanapura Layout. Tenders will be called for within a month," a senior BDA official told TNIE on Thursday.

Asked about the reasons for the delay in building the road, the official said the authority has decided to build it in August 2020. "But the BDA was in a poor shape financially. Our position has improved now after sale of a good number of sites. Now, we have the resources to ready the road which will be of National Highway standards."

Bengaluru South MLA M Krishnappa, who met the BDA Commissioner and other top officials along with Anjanapura residents on Thursday afternoon, stressed that the road will definitely be in place.

"I have been assured that tenders will be called for in a fortnight after the Ganesh Chaturthi festival. Until the work begins, I will do what I can within my capacity to make the road motorable," he said.

Anjanapura Further Extension Residents Welfare Association president P Sampath Kumar expressed relief at the development. "I am also the owner of 40x60 sqft site in the layout comprising nearly 8,000 allottees. Only around 500 owners have built houses due to poor infrastructure here," he explained.

Residents of 9th, 10th and 11th Block do not have roads, Cauvery drinking water or underground drainage connection. "I built my house here in 2006 and it has been a daily struggle to commute. I am relieved that finally a road will be laid here," a resident said.

The Anjanapura LBS Nagar Residents Welfare Association lamented to TNIE in a letter that both the BDA and BWSSB are making the residents regret buying BDA sites and construct houses in the layout.

Pothole deadline goes for a toss?

Bengaluru : The Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike appears to have gone back on its deadline to rid city roads of potholes. After giving officials 10 days to fill all potholes recently, BBMP Chief Commissioner Gaurav Gupta on Thursday told media persons that there was no need for any deadline for pothole works. "It is a daily affair and should be done as and when they are detected. It can be done in one day, or in seven days," he said. The never-ending pothole menace was also noted by Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai who said that they need to be filled up immediately. Gupta said that while monsoon showers have damaged the newly filled potholes, work on the others got delayed as road works were hit by the rain. "Zonal commissioners are addressing the issue in each division and filling potholes. The BBMP is once again holding talks with BWSSB to repair dug-up roads at the earliest. However, they have sought a month's time to complete the exercise," he clarified. ENS

Land issue at Kengeri a boon for Challaghatta

S LALITHA @Bengaluru

ALTHOUGH never meant to be a part of the Phase 2 Metro extension plan, residents of West Bengaluru's Challaghatta are lucky to get a seat on the Metro wagon. Due to land issues near the Kengeri Satellite Bus Stand, a depot for trains will be built near Challaghatta.

A senior Metro official told The New Indian Express, "When we readied the Detailed Project Report (DPR) in September 2011, we planned the depot near the Kengeri Satellite bus stand. However, while assessing the area much later, we found out that the Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) had acquired the land to install a Sewage Treatment Plant."

Metro officials had to get back to the drawing board and work out an alternative. "We got to know that nearly 40 acres of land was available near Challaghatta. We acquired it and readied a revised DPR by mid-2014," the official said.

Chief Engineer, Depots (Phase-2), BMRCL, BL Yeshwanth Chavan, said, "Tenders have been called and work is on to complete the Challaghatta station first. It will be ready by March 2022 and operations can begin there after that." The depot is set to become multi-modal and will involve National Highways Authority of India (NHAI), BDA and other agencies.

A good chunk of BDA's Nadaprabhu Kempegowda Layout is in the vicinity of the Challaghatta Metro station, which is 1.5 km away from the present terminus of Kengeri Metro station.

ACTIVE CASES COME DOWN BY 97% IN 100 DAYS, SHOWS STUDY

Chances of 3rd wave very low, unless complacency seeps in and state becomes less vigilant

RANJANI MADHAVAN @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA saw active Covid-19 cases drop by as much as 97 per cent over a period of 100 days, from 6,03,639 on May 17 to just 18,386 as of August 31. While some parts of the country are again witnessing a rise in the number of fresh cases, Karnataka could well be bucking the trend and the chances of a third wave may be very low, unless complacency seeps in and the state becomes less vigilant, according to a study.

However, the festive season in Karnataka is round the corner and 18 thousand active cases indicate that the risk is far from over. The state is in the sweet spot to neutralise the impact of Covid-19 to a bare minimum and enable its people to move towards resuming a normal life. This can be achieved if Karnataka manages to bring the active cases below 10,000 before September-end, and the sooner the better, according to an analysis by Jeevan Raksha, an initiative of Proxima Consulting.

A man argues with a BBMP marshal after he was fined for not wearing a mask at Majestic Bus Stand in Bengaluru on Thursday | SHRIRAM BN

Between August 3 and 31, ten districts — Bengaluru Urban (9,322), Dakshina Kannada (8,720), Udupi (3,719), Mysuru (2,728), Hassan (2,634), Kodagu (1,981), Uttara Kannada (,1386), Chikkamagaluru (1,326), Shivamogga (1,258) and Tumakuru (1,216) — contributed 87 per cent of the total cases in the state.

"Karnataka needs to micro-manage these 10 districts by increasing testing by three to four times and trace the positive patients quickly in order to break the chain. The government needs to test the right people, such as primary and secondary contacts, beyond those being tested for crossing the borders, attending schools, colleges, etc," said Mysore Sanjeev, convener, Jeevan Raksha.

As for the active cases during the same period, five districts accounted for 75 per cent of them. Bengaluru Urban (7,438) contributed 41 per cent of the total active cases, Dakshina Kannada (2,322) contributed 13 per cent, Udupi (1,697) 9 per cent, Mysuru (1,021) and Hassan (1,050) 6 per cent each. The performance of these districts in September and October will set the future Covid-19 trend in the state, the analysis stated. Bidar and Raichur can become Covid-free in September. As of date, Bidar has no active cases and Raichur has four active cases.

While Raichur has witnessed no Covid-19 deaths in this period, Yadgir, Gadag, Bidar and Kalaburagi witnessed one death each. On the other hand, Dakshina Kannada became the first district in the state to record more deaths than Bengaluru in a month. Two-thirds of the deaths occurred in five districts — Dakshina Kannada (130), Bengaluru Urban (101), Hassan (54), Kolar (49), Mysuru (49), Udupi (38) and Mandya (26).

ZERO CASES!

Bidar first dist to become Covid-free

RAMKRISHNA BADSESHI @Bidar

BIDAR district on Thursday became the first Covid-free district in Karnataka. No cases were reported on September 2, and all patients under treatment and in home quarantine have recovered, giving Bidar the distinction of having zero cases.

It may be recalled that during the first and second waves of Covid, Bidar district gave cause for concern as Covid cases kept mounting. But in the past one month, cases have decreased considerably.

The district recorded 24,300 positive cases in the last two waves -- 23,898 persons recovered and 398 persons died.

In all, 7,54,223 people above the age of 18 were given the first dose of vaccination. Official sources said that perhaps more people are getting vaccinated and following Covid-19 protocols, which could be the reason for the district becoming Covid-free.

Karnataka commits to be free of tuberculosis by 2025

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

KARNATAKA is the first state to launch a campaign to find active TB cases among more than 29 lakh people who have recovered from Covid-19, and their family members. So far, about 7 lakh people have been screened and 157 active TB cases have been reported, Health and Medical Education Minister Dr Sudhakar said on Thursday.

He was speaking to the media after participating in Union Health Minister Mansukh Mandaviya's video conference with all state health ministers, to review the progress in the fight against TB (Tuberculosis). Karnataka is committed to achieving Prime Minister Narendra Modi's vision of TB-free India by 2025, Sudhakar said.

Mandaviya suggested that Severe Acute Respiratory Infection (SARI) and Influenza Like Illness (ILI) cases must be evaluated for Covid-19 and everyone must follow Covid-appropriate behaviour. He appreciated Karnataka's progress in the vaccination drive and the Lasika Utsava, Sudhakar said. On the first Lasika Utsava on Wednesday, the state clocked a record 12 lakh-plus doses and topped the country.

Karnataka has been following strict vigilance in the border districts, Sudhakar said. District authorities have been instructed to widen vaccine coverage in villages within 20km in border districts. Action has been initiated against the college management in KGF, after students returning from Kerala tested Covid-positive, said the minister.

BJP puts Bommai in charge, keeps BSY in good humour

Party readying strategy for 2023 poll, Arun Singh meets public figures

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@ Bengaluru

THE BJP has got its Karnataka strategy worked out: Go with Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai as future leader of the state, while keeping former Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa in good humour.

This was evident in Karnataka BJP in-charge Arun Singh's statement that the party will go to polls in 2023 under the leadership of CM Bommai. Home Minister Amit Shah too made it a point to cement Bommai's place in the scheme of things. The Karnataka BJP had fought elections for two decades under the leadership of Yediyurappa, winning 110 seats in 2008 and 105 seats in 2018. It missed the majority mark by a whisker in 2008.

Now, if Singh's statement is any indication, the party is looking to reap Yediyurappa's goodwill among the masses, and the improve the image of the party through the work of the Bommai Government.

"Obviously, it's under the leadership of Bommai that we will go to polls, and form the government by winning at least 120 seats. It's a double engine propelling Karnataka's development, and we will popularise the schemes of Bommai government and Centre,'' Singh told TNIE after taking part in Bengaluru North, South and Centre districts office-bearers' meeting.

Singh had been to Old Mysuru region, where he held similar meetings and met influential public figures such as Yaduveer Wadiyar, scion of the erstwhile Mysuru royal family, and Suttur Mutt head Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swami.

The Karnataka in-charge gave a pep talk to Bengaluru office-bearers -- presidents, vice-presidents, treasurers and heads of different wings, especially social media -- and said the party will fight even the ZP/TP polls robustly. He claimed the party would win the maximum number of seats in Old Mysuru region, where the "JDS is a sinking boat". The Congress may not take advantage of the situation, making it easier for the BJP. Old Mysuru region is a traditional JDS bastion, where the Vokkaliga community wields influence.

Singh reportedly got a sense of this during his trip, and wants to keep Yediyurappa happy. Even on the eve of Yediyurappa's resignation, Singh had stated that he had been delivering the goods for years, and this strategy may prevail until the 2023 polls.

POLLS ON HIS MIND, BSY TO EMBARK ON STATEWIDE TOUR

BANSY KALAPPA @ Bengaluru

ON a day that Home Minister Amit Shah projected Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai as the future leader of Karnataka, former chief minister BS Yediyurappa is readying plans to go on a statewide tour.

According to party insiders, the 78-year-old Lingayat strongman is likely to hold consultations with the state leadership after Ganesha Chaturthi (September 10) and begin his tour of all 31 districts and select taluks to strengthen the party ahead of the taluk and zilla panchayat polls, expected to be held later this year or in early 2022. He will hold rallies and meetings with local MLAs, MLCs and former legislators.

However, his tour is primarily aimed at bringing the BJP back to power in 2023. Despite being deposed recently, he appears willing to work with his one-time protege and bolster his chances.

Sources aware of the developments said the four-time CM is likely to start his tour in the first week of October, after the 10-day Legislature session ends on September 24. The Rs 1 crore Toyota Vellfire, a high-end, seven-seater luxury car -- which he recently purchased -- will come handy for his long tour.

Yediyurappa plans to travel extensively across Mumbai-Karnataka, Hyderabad-Karnataka, Central Karnataka and the coastal regions where the BJP has won successively. Sources say the tour will help the BJP check the anti-incumbency factor and help the party retain seats, if not win more.

Meanwhile, Yediyurappa will be hard-pressed to increase the saffron party's footprint in the Old Mysuru region, considered a stronghold of the Opposition Congress and JDS. The BJP has classified the constituencies into three categories — A, B and C. A refers to an easy win, B is a contest and C is where it will have to walk the extra mile to win, and many seats in Old Mysuru fall under this category.

While recent victories in Sira (Tumakuru) and KR Pet (Mandya) have given a boost to the BJP, party insiders feel a lot needs to be done to increase its vote share in the region.

Apart from panchayat polls, Yediyurappa's tour is also likely to give a fillip to the BJP in the election to 25 Council seats from urban local bodies, to be held next year, and the Sindagi and Hangal bypolls, due in the coming months.

Create awareness on Covid-19 vaccination: Shah to BJP workers

Union Home Minister Amit Shah arrives in Davanagere on Thursday

THE BJP will grow in leaps and bounds in the future and will be a big force to reckon with in Karnataka, he stressed. Referring to a possible third wave of Covid-19, Shah noted that in some districts and regions, certain groups were hesitant to get vaccinated and said it is everyone's responsibility to get inoculated to save lives. This is the only means to fight the infection and and no one should be left out of the inoculation drive, he noted.

"Resilent Indians have shouldered the Covid-19 burden with Prime Minister Narendra Modi to ensure that the virus is defeated. The government has taken up the world's biggest vaccination drive. On a single day, we got 1.36 crore people vaccinated and improved our own record," he said. It was the PM's vision to get the maximum vaccination doses produced and distributed for inoculation. "Without the support of the 130 crore people, this wouldn't have been possible," he said. As regards Karnataka, Shah said that so far, 5.20 crore people have received the vaccine. Of this, four crore people have got the first dose whereas 1.16 crore have received both doses. By September-end, about 90 per cent of the state's population will be fully vaccinated, he claimed. When the country faced shortage of medical oxygen during the height of the second wave, the PM took a decision to set up oxygen plants across the country and a majority of plants are now functional. This has made the country self-reliant in oxygen and has boosted our confidence, Shah said.

Shah called upon party workers to identify districts where the vaccination coverage is less, educate people who are not yet inoculated and ensure that they are jabbed.

He also said that the PM Garib Kalyan Anna Yojana has given people the confidence that the government stands with them in times of distress. Under the scheme, nearly 80 crore identified beneficiaries are getting 5 kg of free foodgrain every month and this will continue till Diwali, he added.

"Our only aim is that none of our Indian brothers and sisters remain hungry," he said.

'Govt will not compromise on internal security'

DAVANAGERE: Chief Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said that his government will not compromise on the issue of internal security and would deal with anti-soical elements sternly. Amit Shah keeps low profile

Union Home Minister Amit Shah, who arrived in Karnataka on Thursday, had a slew of programmes lined up: he was to participate in the Jana Sabha Sthal at GM Institute of Technology campus, inaugurate Gandhi Bhavan, Police Public School, Kondajji Central Library, honour freedom fighters and hold public rallies at different places in Avargere, Kondajji. Instead, he inaugurated all the functions virtually from the GMIT campus. With rumours swirling around that the Congress was planning to protest along Shah 's route, he just inaugurated everything virtually, to avoid embarrassment. KPCC chief DK Shivakumar said their cadres were angry and upset over injustice meted out--- party leaders were asked to leave Dharwad because of the local polls, but BJP leaders landed in Dharwad for Pralhad Joshi's daughter's wedding. Shivakumar said, "I advised them not to do anything, as it is a private function, and not an electoral issue." Finally, there was no protest. All's well that ends well.

Bommai to discuss fuel prices with FM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Hubballi

CHIEF Minister Basavaraj Bommai on Thursday said that he would meet Union Finance Minister Nirmala Seetharaman in Bengaluru on September 5 and discuss the issue of rising fuel prices, including LPG cooking gas.

Addressing reporters here, Bommai defended the price hike saying it depended on several factors, including international crude oil prices. Bommai also blamed the previous UPA regime's oil bonds as one of the reasons for the soaring fuel prices.

Reacting to the Congress' allegation that fuel prices have gone up despite lower crude oil prices, the chief minister said, "It does not depend only on that. It also involves processing charges, financial positions of the oil companies and many more. The Congress has also governed the country... prices were high even during their tenure... they also know the reasons. Anyhow, I will discuss the issue with the Finance Minister on September 5."

When asked if he would discuss the issue of Cabinet expansion with Union Home Minister Amit Shah during his visit to Karnataka on Thursday, Bommai said he would not take up the issue at this juncture.

On govt's Covid-19 management

On rising Covid-19 cases in neighbouring Kerala, Bommai said that the State Government has been conducting special vaccination drives in villages lying within 20 km of the state border with Kerala following directives from the Union Government.

"Also, regular checks are being conducted at bus stands and railway stations. Students visiting from Kerala are asked to quarantine for a week and later undergo the Covid-19 test," he added.

Taxing people dry: Cong protests fuel, LPG rates carrying cylinders

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

Holding up empty cylinders, the Youth Congress on Thursday staged a protest against fuel and LPG prices in Bengaluru. The protest, near Anand Rao flyover, was led Indian Youth Congress President BV Srinivas, as part of the party's nationwide agitation on hike in prices.

Congress workers walked from the party office near Anand Rao flyover to Maurya Circle, where they held a 100-ft flag with the picture of a gas cylinder, and shouted slogans against the Union government. The Congress alleged that in the past seven years, prices of all essentials have increased, making life miserable for people, especially the middle class. The party will continue its protest till the government loses power, they said.

Srinivas said that on one side, the Union government brings in the Ujwala scheme, where they want to give cylinders for free, and on the other, they are constantly increasing LPG prices. "An LPG cylinder, which cost Rs 400 during Manmohan Singh's period, has increased to Rs 900 in just seven years. Food prices have gone up, but the BJP has no concern for the poor," he said, adding that they would gherao BJP MPs and ministers in the coming days.

Karnataka Youth Congress President Raksha Ramaiah said BJP leaders do not listen to the poor. If prices do not come down in the next 15 days, the party plans to step up their agitation.

Opposition leader and former chief minister Siddaramaiah said the increase in prices of fuel, power and heavy taxes are a big burden on the middle-class and taxpayers.

Digvijaya to lead Congress panel for 'sustained' agitations

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AS the Opposition Congress is planning to launch a series of agitations against the policies of the Union Government, the All-India Congress Committee (AICC) on Thursday constituted a committee headed by senior leader Digvijaya Singh to plan sustained agitations on national issues.

Senior Congress leader and MLC BK Hariprasad, who is part of the nine-member committee that also includes Priyanka Gandhi, said they will take up political and economic issues that affect people. "Digvijaya Singh is the chairman and he will shortly call for a meeting to discuss the issues to be taken up. There are so many issues, economical, political and even those related to external affairs policies. Till today, they (Centre) have not spelt out what is their stand on the Taliban," he said. The committee will also discuss and plan agitation on National Education Policy (NEP), increase in prices of essential commodities, LPG, fuel, National Monetisation Pipeline policy and various other issues. While state Congress leaders had staged protests across Karnataka after petrol price touched Rs 100 per litre, on Thursday, members of Youth Congress staged a protest against the increase in price of LPG cooking gas.

Hariprasad said the NEP was approved during the Covid time and it is being implemented without holding discussions with anyone. "It is the question of the future of our students and the nation," he said, adding, "Normally, the Opposition has the say and the government has the way, but they are going ahead with such a sensitive issue without even holding discussions. It should have been discussed in Parliament."

CLP meet to discuss session strategy

ENS@ Bengaluru

FORMER chief minister and Congress leader Siddaramaiah has called for a Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting in Bengaluru on September 7 ahead of the 10-day Legislature session that will begin on September 13.

While KPCC president DK Shivakumar and Siddaramaiah are leaving no stone unturned to point out the lapses of the Union and State governments, the party is gearing up to raise several issues related to the state, including its financial status and the government's handling of the Covid-19 pandemic, during the session, and is likely to discuss these issues during the CLP meeting.

"The State Government has failed to tackle floods and address the woes of farmers. Both the governments have made several announcements, but have failed to implement them. The last session was held in March 2021... there are many issues that need to be raised. We will discuss all this in the CLP meeting and decide on how to take it forward in the session," KPCC working president Eshwar Khandre told The New Indian Express.

"We have an internal assessment report on health. We all know how badly the government managed the Covid-19 second wave. We have prepared a report in consultation with experts on the funds utilised and the lapses on part of the government. We will submit this report to the Speaker. We will discuss it in the CLP meeting,'' another working president Ramalinga Reddy added.

Excise revenue collection picks up in second pandemic year

Department achieves 41.49 pc of budget estimates for the April-August period

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE state's excise revenue continues to scale up in the second pandemic year with the department achieving 41.49 per cent of budget estimates for the period April to August in the current fiscal 2021-22. In the corresponding period during the last financial year, the department achieved 34.16 per cent of the budget estimate.

According to official statistics, the Excise Department collected Rs 10,197.60 crore during April-August this year as compared to Rs 7,755.40 crore for the corresponding period last year. The total excise revenue collected between July 1, 2019 and June 30, 2020 was Rs 23,332 crore against a target of Rs 22,700 crore for 2020-21. This year, from July 1 to August 31, the revenue collection has already touched Rs 10,197.60 crore for a targeted budget of Rs 24,580 crore for 2021-22. The financial year for the Excise Department commences on July 1.

Last year, due to the national lockdown between March 23 and May 7, there was no sale. In May 2020, when the government allowed retail liquor stores (CL2 licencees) to open, the next day they had hiked Additional Excise Duty (AED) across all slabs of Indian Made Liquor (IML) to mop up an additional Rs 2,500 crore revenue. That was the second hike in AED after the one announced in the Budget last year. The move boomeranged because the economic slowdown had already hit people and their spending power.

The Karnataka State Beverage Corporation Limited (KSBCL) had sold 198.88 lakh case boxes (CBs) of IML and 63.0 lakh boxes of beer between April and August last year and 261.60 lakh boxes of IML and 87.56 lakh boxes during the period this year. One case box contains 8.64 litres of alcohol. "While IML sales have picked up, beer sales continue to be sluggish because almost all IT and corporate employees continue to work from home. The night curfew has impacted the food and beverage industry, which has been allowed to do business with 50 per cent occupancy," said sources.

Audi crash: Postmortem, FSL reports expected today

ENS @ Bengaluru

EVEN as the Adugodi traffic police, who are probing the recent Audi Q3 SUV crash, await the blood samples report from the government hospital, investigators are strongly suspecting the accident as a case of drunk driving. The postmortem findings, along with an FSL report, are expected on Friday.

Meanwhile, new theories have emerged in the case that those who were seated in the front seats were wearing seat belts, which were cut loose by those who rushed in to help the victims after the crash. Earlier, it was thought that no one in the car was wearing any seat belt, due to which the airbags failed to deploy on impact.

Speaking to TNIE, an investigation officer said, "We recorded the statements of the complainant and the residents who witnessed the mishap, and were told that a couple of the victims were noticed wearing seatbelts, by some people who rushed in to the help them. They used a tool to cut the seatbelts free. We also collected samples of the cut seatbelts and sent them to the FSL and RTO to seek their opinion. So far, we have not received a postmortem report or blood samples report from the hospital. It is too early to comment on the investigation, since we are gathering technical details from different departments involved in the probe."

A medical officer from St John's Hospital said, "The postmortem reports are to be handed over to the investigation officer soon and toxicology reports are pending from the Government Forensic Science Lab in Madivala."

Meanwhile, a case under Sections 279 (rash driving or riding on a public way) and 304A (causing death by negligence) of the IPC has been registered.

Drone-like lights near IAF station sends cops into tizzy

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

DRONES used in Jammu by terror outfits to carry improvised explosive devices has had the Defence and police guard up and ready to protect vital and defence installations. This was evident from a mysterious incident that occurred about 40 days ago near the perimeter wall of Indian Air Force's Jalahalli Air Force Station.

Strange blinking lights peering just above the perimeter wall sent the IAF security and the police into a tizzy, who suspected it to be a drone being used by the "enemy".

"A perimeter guard of the Jalahalli Air Force Station observed some blinking lights near a compound wall in the night. They couldn't guess what exactly it was, as it was dark. They suspected it might have been some small drone and immediately informed the local police," a senior police officer said.

Following information from IAF officials about the suspected drone activity, the North Division police increased vigil at the station.

Jalahalli and Gangammanagudi police teams were deputed for almost 15 days in the night to observe if there was any repetition of the incident. Even the Air Force Police conducted thorough probes to establish the source of the lights.

"Nearby apartments and colonies were checked for drones, but nothing was found. Even licensed drone operators were inquired with, but they told us they had never carried out drone activities at night," the official added.

It is learnt that senior police and IAF officers held meetings to discuss the incident and find out reasons for the same. However, the incident could not be confirmed even after putting in effort. "It is a one-time unverified incident, but we are vigilant," the officer said.

DCP (North) Dharmender Kumar Meena also called it a one-time unverified incident. "Air Force Station authorities and the local police are in constant touch and coordinating with each other. There is no new sighting in recent weeks, but we are and will remain vigilant," he said.

3 women, trafficked from Delhi, rescued at Yelahanka rly stn

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THREE young women from Ghaziabad in Uttar Pradesh were flown from Delhi to Bengaluru by sex traffickers with the promise of jobs. But with presence of mind, they escaped from the clutches of the traffickers, who tried to push them into flesh trade, and reached the Yelahanka railway station from where the RPF rescued them. Two of them are daughters of a district-level leader of a political party in Ghaziabad, while the other woman is their relative.

The women, all in their 20s, are now in the custody of the Child Welfare Committee with the NGO Talaashi facilitating their return home. The trio was put on an IndiGo flight on the night of August 30 from Delhi airport to Kempegowda International Airport with the promise of jobs in Bengaluru, said an RPF source. "Two of them, aged 21 and 26, were graduates from Delhi University and were employed in event management companies. Their mother is a local political leader. The other girl, a 19-year-old, is still pursuing her degree," the source added. The trafficker is a well-known event manager in Delhi and is alleged to be involved in international trafficking of women. The trio reached Bengaluru around 10.30 pm on that day and were informed that they will be taken to a hotel by someone and an interview scheduled the following morning. "A cab took them to a PG accommodation at Chandrashekhar Layout instead of a hotel. They were let in and the door was locked from outside by a watchman," said another source.

The room where they were put up was littered with cigarette butts and had cameras installed. There were six drunk men in the building and the women learnt that it was actually a PG for men. Three more women, also trafficked, were around and they realised they had been brought for flesh trade. The girls then hatched a plan to escape that night. "One of them beckoned the watchman to the door, overpowered him and escaped from there. They had Rs 3,000 with them and managed to reach Yelahanka railway station. They later asked a cop at the station to help them find a safe place for one night," the source said.

Drug peddler absconding for 8 years arrested

ENS @ Bengaluru

THE West Division police have arrested a notorious drug peddler and history-sheeter who had managed to evade arrest for the last eight years.

Hameed (35), a resident of Ullal Upanagar and a rowdy sheeter of Jnanabharathi police station, has been arrested. The police have also arrested his brother Sadiq (24).

Police said Hameed was a major drug dealer in the Ullal area and had built a strong network of small-time peddlers. He used to bring ganja and sell it in the area. He evaded arrest for eight years.

"There were 15 cases against him, including several NDPS Act cases and attempts to murder. Following a tipoff that he was in Ullal, a police team led by ACP Krishna Kumar arrested him along with his brother. Ganja was also seized from the accused," the police said, adding that Hameed was an associate of notorious rowdy Ullal Karthik.

ARTIFICIAL INSEMINATION IS CRUELTY TOWARDS ANIMALS, SAYS MADRAS HC

'Bulls should be bred naturally, otherwise cows will become manufacturing machines'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Chennai

Participants try to tame bulls during a Jallikattu event held near Madurai | EXPRESS

THE Madras High Court observed that artificial insemination deprives bulls and cows the pleasure of mating which they are entitled to naturally, and that it amounts to cruelty under the provisions of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals Act, 1960. "It is appropriate to use bulls for the purpose of cattle breeding in a natural way which would protect their rights, otherwise cows would be used as manufacturing machines," the court observed, in an order dated August 19.

The division bench comprising Justices N Kirubakaran and P Velmurugan made the observations while disposing of a writ petition filed against engaging non-native breeds of bulls in Jallikattu events. "Artificial insemination deprives bulls and cows of the pleasure of mating which they are entitled to naturally. Reproduction by natural process is a basic biological need which cannot be interfered with," the court said. Hence, denying and depriving the right to copulate amounts to "cruelty" to animals under the Act. On the original plea, the court ruled that permitting imported bulls in Jallikattu is against the spirit of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (Tamil Nadu Amendment) Act, 2017, which is enacted to preserve.

R Vijayakumar, Additional Government Pleader, said bulls owned by farmers may be of any breed and preservation of native-breed bulls cannot be construed to mean that only native breeds can participate in jallikattu events.

He further said jallikattu events cannot be exclusively for the native breeds alone. Permitting cross-breed bulls is not illegal as per the Amendment Act of 2017.

Rejecting his submissions, the court said when the Act only speaks about native bulls, it is deemed that the other bulls are prohibited from participating in it.

'Goa concerned about Mahadayi, against diversion of water'

NAUSHAD BIJAPUR @Belagavi

WHILE the Karnataka government is leaving no stone unturned to get all the clearances from the Union Government to implement the Mahadayi project by getting the Mahadayi river water diverted from Goa, Chief Minister Dr Pramod Sawant said that his government is extremely concerned about the project.

In an exclusive talk with TNIE on Thursday, Sawant said he would not like to elaborate much on the Mahadayi project and said since a case pertaining to it was pending before the court, commenting anything on it would be sub-judice.

Even as the Mahadayi Water Disputes Tribunal (MWDT) allotted its share of water to Karnataka under the Mahadayi project in August 2018, the Goa government is against the diversion of Mahadayi waters, which it contends is the lifeline of Goa.

However, sources said Karnataka government would be able to go ahead with the Mahadayi project once the Centre grants environment and wildlife clearances to the state to implement the Kalsa-Banduri project, a part of the Mahadayi project at Kankumbi, located along the Karnataka-Goa border.

Covid fight

Speaking on Goa government's initiatives that helped in drastically bringing down Covid-19 cases, Sawant said, "The Goa government took up excessive testing of people across the state in an attempt to prevent the spread of Covid-19 second wave. As a result of excessive testing, we were able to hospitalise most of the symptomatic patients and put asymptomatic ones under home isolation.

On his way to Saudatti Yellamma temple via Belagavi, Sawant visited 'Khau Katta', a complex of eateries. Impressed by the concept of 'Khau Katta', he said his government would also plan to have one such eating point in Goa soon.

Karnataka forest dept to clear eucalyptus trees in Ranebennur

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

AS a part of the habitat improvement exercise, especially dry grasslands in the state, and to protect the critically-endangered Great Indian bustards and Blackbuck, the Karnataka forest department has started clearing eucalyptus plantations in Ranebennur's Blackbuck sanctuary.

Clearing the eucalyptus trees from the region was a 10-year-old demand from conservationists as the area is water-starved. They had pointed out that unplanned plantations by staffers has not only hampered the natural biodiversity, but also caused suffering to the species residing in the patches.

They pointed out that these trees were affecting the natural movement of animals and flight of birds in the dry grasslands. They also severely affect the groundwater table.

The Central Empowered Committee has now approved the removal of the trees. The department will clear 200Ha of eucalyptus plantation in the area. Earlier in April, water holes were created in the sanctuary to ensure animals do not wander out.

Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, Wildlife, Vijay Kumar Gogi, told TNIE that the exercise of removing the trees will start after monsoon ends. The small shrubs will be handled through de-weeding. The exercise of removing the trees will start post-monsoon.

He added that the protection of other grasslands and eastern plains will be taken as per budgetary allocations and management plans of the regions.

Excise officials planted ganja to frame Kochi airport's aviation officers: Report

P RAMDAS @Kochi

THE Kakkanad MDMA seizure case – in which a few excise officials played to the tune of the drug mafia to help the accused go scot-free -- is but a sample of the unholy activities taking place in the state excise department, which is yet to atone for the crime of ruining the lives of three young aviation engineers after trapping them in a drug case.

The affected aviation officers, of the Cochin International Airport Limited (CIAL), are still in a legal fight to bring out the truth in the incident after an internal inquiry report of the excise department found that they were trapped by a few excise officials by 'planting ganja at their guest house. Though the department has taken action against the excise officials, no criminal case has been registered against them for having foisted cases against three aviation officers.

The report of the Additional Excise Commissioner (Enforcement), a copy of which is in the possession of TNIE, revealed that the case was fabricated and false.

"The ganja was planted in this case," stated the report.

The report also suggested disciplinary action against the excise officers concerned -- Sujith P S, V M Haris, C G Shabu, Jose Raiby, Sidharth S, A V Pradeepkumar, and C T Sunish Kumar.

'Mara Mitra' app launched

ENS @ Bengaluru

CHIEF Secretary P Ravi Kumar on Thursday launched the Mara Mitra (a tree's friend) app, created by Cauvery Calling, as part of a series of initiatives being undertaken for an afforestation drive along the Cauvery basin.

The app was simultaneously launched in nine districts of Karnataka where volunteers of Cauvery Calling are working with Karnataka Forest Department and 890 Mara Mitras.

"Krushi Aranya Protsaha Yojane and NREGA are schemes by the Karnataka government. Isha Foundation is tracking demand generation. They are collecting demand data from villages. It's not right to say that Isha is using government money to plant saplings. These are government schemes. Isha Foundation is creating awareness by educating farmers about the schemes," the Chief Secretary said.

The app would help increase the reach for volunteers as they enrol farmers at their doorstep. The app has several dynamic features, including geo-tagging of trees, training modules, farmer enrolment process, state government schemes and several other relevant information.

Jaleel gives evidence against IUML gen secy to ED

Former Kerala minister K T Jaleel, who appeared before the ED, comes out of the agency's Ernakulam office on Thursday | A SANESH

K T Jaleel, who reached the Enforcement Directorate (ED) office here on Thursday to give evidence against IUML general secretary P K Kunhalikutty and his son, said the agency would call the two soon for interrogation over a money laundering case.

"I have come to know that Kunhalikutty will be questioned on Friday and (his son) Hasique (Pandikadavathu) on September 7. I have submitted the documents asked by ED. More documents will be submitted soon," he said.

ED officials are tight-lipped about the interrogation. "Considering the alleged amount of money laundered and the people involved, the case is of a serious nature. The interrogation of Kunhalikutty and his son is inevitable. But the place and time of it will be kept confidential," said an ED official.

The agency is already probing the case of money laundering by Muslim League leader V K Ebrahim Kunju for allegedly taking bribe from the contractor of the Palarivattom flyover bridge.

The structure was built when Kunju was the PWD minister in the UDF government and was rebuilt after detecting several flaws.

Take measures to stop illegal mining at Sadahalli, Karnataka HC tells govt

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

ISSUING notice to the State Government, on a petition seeking directions to take steps to stop alleged illegal mining/quarrying at Sadahalli in Devanahalli taluk and the resulting pollution, the Karnataka High Court on Thursday told the government to ensure that no illegal mining is carried out in the area.

A division bench of Acting Chief Justice Satish Chandra Sharma and Justice Sachin Shankar Magadum passed the interim order after hearing a plea filed by Ramabadran Veera Raghavan and five others, including S Mariswamy, former DGP and Commissioner of Police, who are layout residents from Sadahalli Post.

The court also issued notice to the Chief Secretary, Principal Secretary, Department of Commerce and Industries, and Director and Commissioner of Mines and Geology.

The petition was filed by residents after praying the court to stop licences from being given for quarry stone/granite mining in Sadahalli Bande, at Sadahalli and Chowdenahalli in Devanahalli taluk, surrounded on all sides by residential settlements, mostly occupied by retired senior citizens. It was alleged that the quarrying posed health hazards, since it generates a large amount of dust that floats in the air and spreads over a radius of a few kilometers, thus leading to serious respiratory diseases. They added that this also posed a serious threat to the flights taking off and landing at the nearby Kempegowda International Airport.

Kerala girl's guava sapling makes it to Modi's courtyard

SINDU CHOODAN @Kollam

PM Narendra Modi chats with Suresh Gopi after receiving the guava sapling grown by Jayalekshmi (inset)

IN THE courtyard of the prime minister's residence, a guava sapling will spread its leaves. A few springs later it will bear the fruits of enthusiasm of a young girl — from a remote hamlet in Kerala — who dreams to spread the virtues of organic farming across the country.

On Thursday, Jayalekshmi, a Class 10 student from Pandalam in Pathanamthitta district, was thrilled and elated as actor-turned-politician Suresh Gopi handed over a guava sapling gifted by her to PM Narendra Modi. Jeyalekshmi had presented the sapling to Suresh Gopi during his visit to Gandhi Bhavan at Pathanapuram on Monday.

Jayalekshmi, 16, had bagged the state government's Karshaka Thilakam Award last year for the best girl student for maintaining an organic farm in her courtyard. Daughter of Deepthi S, a college teacher, and Sanjeev K S, a private sector employee, Jayalekshmi used to educate her friends about the virtues of organic farming.

She had also written to the PM, sharing her views and seeking his support to promote organic farming. In her letter, she requested the PM to motivate and encourage the people to switch to organic farming and organic farm products through his Mann Ki Baat programme. She also requested the PM to conduct a national-level competition under the ministry of agriculture for the students who have a passion for farming.

Acknowledging her efforts, Modi sent a letter appreciating her efforts, which was presented to Jayalekshmi by Suresh Gopi during his visit to Pathanapuram.

WELCOME EXTENSION OF TN QUOTA FOR PROFESSIONAL COURSES

The Tamil Nadu Assembly recently passed a law allowing for 7.5% reservation for students of government-run and aided schools in professional courses, including engineering, agriculture and law. The horizontal quota, which will be implemented from the current academic year, will benefit around 30,000 students, according to state officials. In providing the quota, the DMK government was taking a leaf out of the book of the previous AIADMK regime. The latter, having exhausted legal options to prevent the implementation of the National Eligibility cum Entrance Test for medical admissions in the state, last year passed a law providing 7.5% reservation for government students. As a result, over 300 students from disadvantaged backgrounds were able to access medical admission, many more than even before the NEET. The quota in professional courses is expected to similarly open up avenues of opportunity in elite state institutions for students from difficult backgrounds.

The moves of both governments are welcome and necessary correctives to the structural inequities that skew the landscape of educational opportunity. However, the state's responsibilities cannot end there. Tamil Nadu needs to urgently strengthen its school system. Over the past few years, the then government had systematically worked to upgrade the state syllabus to bring it on par with the CBSE's. But there is more work to be done. According to the Union Education Ministry's Performance Grading Index, 2019, Tamil Nadu was in the top five states in the country overall. However, a closer look reveals that while the state scores well in access, infrastructure, equity and governance, it is ranked 22nd on learning outcomes. These outcomes would have worsened during the course of the pandemic when disadvantaged children lost contact with schools with many falling into child marriage and labour. The government has said addressing learning loss will be a priority but it is imperative a mechanism be created by which education is provided safely and in a consistent manner reaching all students, insulated from future spikes in Covid-19 cases.

K'TAKA ROAD ACCIDENT ANOTHER WAKE-UP CALL

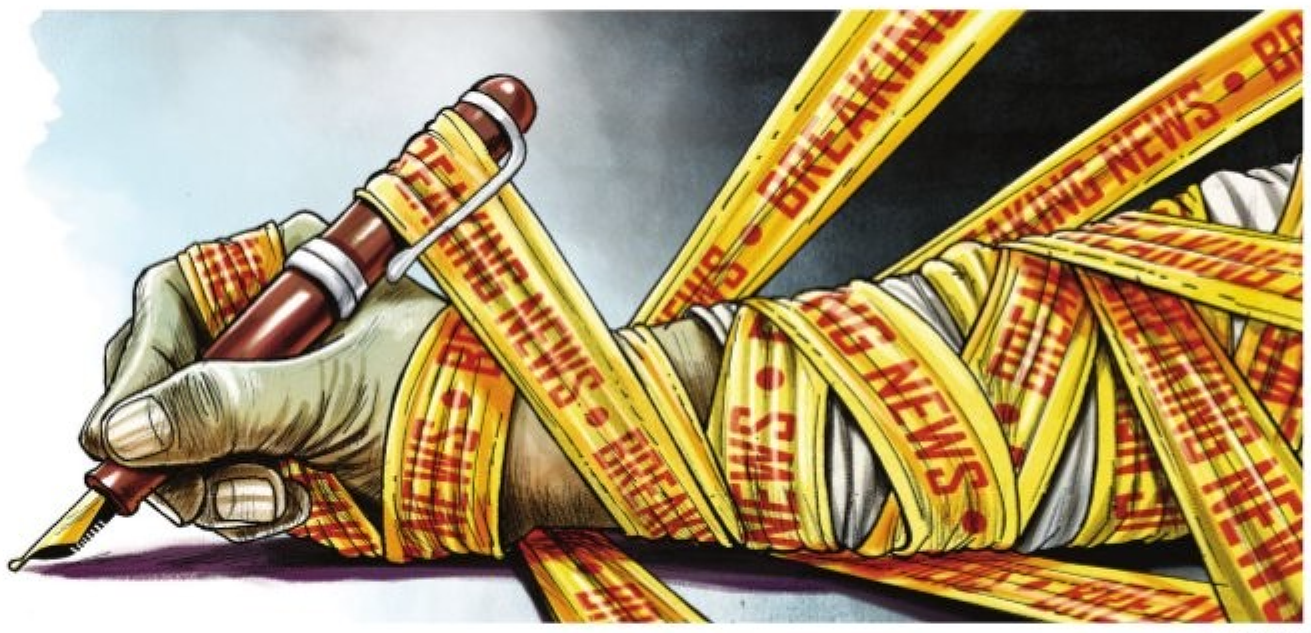
The horrific high-speed car crash that killed Hosur DMK MLA Y Prakash's son Karuna Sagar and six others—all in their 20s—in Bengaluru in the early hours of Tuesday should be a trigger to devise action plans to prevent such deaths. Such accidents threaten to be more frequent with the Covid-19 pandemic on a decline and the youth coming out in hordes to reclaim freedom that had been curtailed due to lockdowns and restrictions. While those restrictions are aimed at safety from Covid-19, similar measures need to be in place to deter motorists—particularly the youth—from using roads recklessly and posing a threat to pedestrians and themselves.

Given the fetish of the youth for high-end cars and bikes and the rush of adrenaline from high-speed drives/rides, it is a ready recipe for disaster in the face of weak enforcement, or even the lack of it. While inaugurating a seminar series on 'Road safety challenges in India and preparation of an action plan' by the International Road Federation in February this year, Union Minister for Road Transport and Highways Nitin Gadkari pointed out that 70% of road death victims in India are in the working age-group of 18-45. With 415 road deaths per day, India holds an inglorious record of having the highest number in the world—even ahead of the US and China. The losses amount to 3.14% of the GDP.

A densely populated India has a vehicle population of 29.5 crores, mostly concentrated in the urban centres where the accident rate exceeds that in rural areas. However, it is not the vehicle population that is a worry but the behaviour of the motorists. Despite technology being pressed into service as part of enforcement, it finally boils down to the mind and behaviour of motorists in avoiding accidents to ensure safety on the roads. Wariness about death by Covid-19 is a priority today, but death by any other means is still death. Avoiding it and ensuring safety should be the focus of the authorities as well as the general public.

The media, of course, always loves the latest news. But that is no reason to abandon worthwhile causes halfway without taking them to their logical conclusion

HAS THE MEDIA LOST PERSEVERANCE?



AMIT BANDRE

K JAYAKUMAR

Former Kerala chief secretary and ex-VC, Thunchath Ezhuthachan Malayalam Varsity

Freedom of the media is a nation's most trusted corrective instrument. When this freedom is not used diligently, the media becomes guilty of underperformance. It is an act of omission. The printed word no longer enjoys the monopoly of information sharing and dialogue. The electronic and social media have carved out their respective niches altering the power equations among them. In spite of considerable constraints, our newspapers and magazines, as well as visual media to a lesser extent, have brought out in recent years a number of problematic issues trying to hold the powerful accountable to the people of India. Political parties do play a role in ferreting out unacceptable actions of the government, attacking skewed policies and flagging suspicious deals. The forum for the political parties to pursue such questionable matters is the Parliament (or the state Assemblies), where they can force the governments by the instruments available to them in the legislature. But our recent history clearly records only acrimonious Parliamentary sessions, where important bills with far-reaching consequences are passed without any debate or scrutiny. The inevitable infirmities of the laws thus passed have been aptly highlighted by the Chief Justice of India. How do we expect serious discussion in Parliament about wrong policies and faltering executive action, culminating in a probe or corrective measure, when such demands are consistently and effectively stonewalled by the government?

Media, however, are free to pursue investigations on their own, even if the government doesn't budge. The infamous Watergate scandal where the US Presidential candidate Richard Nixon was allegedly in the know of his rival Democratic party office being bugged was doggedly pursued by Washington Post and its reporters Bob Woodward and Carl Bernstein. The excesses during the Emergency were all subject to post-mortem in several newspapers and books (published of course after it was lifted). People had the privilege of knowing (belatedly) the dynamics of the abuse of power and its imperviousness. We had four Joint Parliamentary Committees in the last 25 years to probe into major scandals, including the Bofors and Harshad Mehta scams. All of them had come out with cardinal findings that eventually helped improve regulatory mechanisms and strengthen checks and balances. Media, wedded to the cause of freedom and probity, works in tandem with political parties, civil society and academics to bring out the truth and frame the guilty.

Executive lapses happen regularly in every state and the Centre, though every issue may not merit national attention. However, we recently had a few major issues warranting a deeper probe. The Pegasus snooping allegations looked like a real tornado in the making. Earlier, the Rafale warplane deal was in public domain for some time, demanding a satisfactory explanation from the government that never came. Some issues are sheltered under the cover of national security, others are taken to courts. That effectively freezes further public debates as they would die a natural death after long spells of silence. The questions about the differential pricing policy of Covid vaccines and the mismanagement with regard to the availability of oxygen, the abject indifference to the plight of migrant workers, alleged indiscriminate invoking of UAPA and sedition laws, death of Stan Swamy in judicial custody and several not-fully explained issues have died prematurely. The media has gone silent, as if those issues are no longer relevant. Repeated instances of sensitive matters and allegations regularly fizzling out do not augur well for our polity. Perhaps some of the allegations might be unfounded. If so, it is in the interest of the government to enquire into them and call the bluff! Should they have a grain of truth, that too should be probed instead of being brushed under the carpet. Repeated instances that force us to conclude that any amount of questioning has no effect on those in power could make a society sterile and cynic.

The media, of course, always loves the latest news. But that is no reason to abandon worthwhile causes halfway without taking them to their logical conclusion. The media behaves like a doctor interested only in diagnosing but not in the cure. It may not offer treatment, but it should cry hoarse till the ailment gets treated. An absence of perseverance can mean that the intent was only to shock.

And where have our academics gone? They have the intellectual wherewithal to study the socio-political and moral backstage of every controversy. What prevents them from undertaking such studies so that the country gets the benefit of truth? The present style of stalling the allegations and scams and making them appear as soap bubbles blown by imps might be a smart strategy of political management but in the long term, it kills the very spirit of democracy that glows with accountability rather than prevarication. These premature burials raise a highly disturbing question: What exactly is the cause of this mutation in the behaviour of our media and intellectuals? What explains the mysterious silence and lack of follow-up among the super sleuths in the media and our restless academics? Obviously it cannot be fatigue or too much work. It cannot be indifference either. It is the altered ecosystem where freedom is under attack in ways, subtle and crass. As long as that ecosystem remains unchecked, ghosts of barren scams and ghouls of unexplained lapses will haunt those who still believe in freedom and constitutional values.

TALIBAN CHALLENGES THE INDIAN POLICY

P R KUMARASWAMY

Professor at JNU. Teaches contemporary Middle East there

Reports of Indian diplomats engaging with Taliban officials in Doha is not a victory or defeat but merely an acceptance of the ground reality in Afghanistan. Peaceful transition happens only in democracies and in some parts of the world, even this is contested and turns violent. While Afghanistan falling to the Taliban as a house of cards has global ramifications, let's not miss the real issue. For better or worse, the return of the Taliban is an Afghan problem and can be managed and resolved only by the Afghans. If history teaches us something, other powers will intervene and increase internal divisions, cleavages and hence the propensity to violence. Early indications signal that the Taliban will be less violent than the xenophobic Islamic State of Iraq and Syria (ISIS) but will the 2.0 version be radically different from the earlier avatar? Only time will tell.

Given the ramifications of the Taliban takeover, India should re-examine some of its policies and practices. First and foremost, let's admit that the Ministry of External Affairs is not the exclusive arm to further foreign policy interests. States have a host of options to pursue their strategic interests. For operational reasons, foreign ministries the world over only have a limited role in sensitive decisions. There are several examples of successful clandestine diplomacy pursued by non-career diplomats or non-diplomatic agencies. In countries like Israel, the foreign office knows about key decisions only through the media. When he visited Beijing and paved the way for the Sino-American normalisation, Henry Kissinger was a national security adviser and not the secretary of state.

Thus, engagement with the Taliban does not mean confining it to 'diplomatic' engagement. India should activate a host of back-channel options to engage with the new rulers of Afghanistan to gauge the mood in Kabul and prepare the ground for formal diplomatic engagement. Besides giving diplomatic deniability, the military-intelligence community taking the driver's seat on Afghanistan will avoid premature leaks, disasters or diplomatic embarrassments. Thus, while the media attention is focused on diplomatic 'recognition', India should use its intelligence assets to 'engage' with the Taliban, both inside and outside Afghanistan.

Two, engagement with or recognition of the Taliban will have domestic ramifications. Supporters and critics of that approach will use this to follow their narrow interests. Official engagement with the Taliban should not be seen as a license for individuals pursuing, following or justifying Taliban practices in Afghanistan or its imitation within India. If the attractions for ISIS ideology is an indication, some Indians might use the official 'accommodation' with the Taliban to Talibanise and radicalise the youth. Irrespective of its approach towards the Taliban, the government must draw a clear and firm line: official engagement with the Taliban is a diplomatic necessity and is not a carte blanche for individual activism within the country.

Three, India sadly remains the only democracy that does not believe in the 30-year principle of declassifying official papers. The time has come to revisit its practice of keeping official documents away from public knowledge and scrutiny. Indeed, most official Indian papers have to be accessed in foreign archives than from the National Archives in New Delhi. Let the government use the enormous public interest to declassify all the Afghan papers since 1979. How did the Indian diplomats who held sensitive positions in Kabul and elsewhere view, read, interpret and eventually advise the Indian government? In the absence of official papers, currently we are left with selective memories, self-glorifying accounts, partial truths, post-retirement enlightenment and anti-American public posturing. Now that the Soviet Union is no more, even critical accounts of Moscow's actions will not cause any diplomatic uproar. Let the government use the Taliban takeover that puzzled even seasoned Afghan watchers to declassify official papers, if necessary even beyond the normal 30-year rule.

Four, the Taliban takeover and its fallout exposed the limited diplomatic space for India in its immediate neighbourhood. The neighbours of Afghanistan (Pakistan, Iran), great powers (China, Russia) and power aspirants (Turkey) have emerged as the key players in the great game. Despite the diversity, none of them see any role for India. Even Saudi Arabia and the UAE, which have stakes, are knocking on the doors without success. The post-withdrawal US role can only get murkier. The erstwhile Northern Alliance option is unrealistic as none of the major powers want to add fuel to the fire. Thus, India's role in Afghanistan remains uncertain. While closely monitoring the unfolding drama and conflicting pulls and pressures, the focus should be on rebuilding a peaceful Afghanistan. Until a clarity emerges, New Delhi should desist from making any public statements. Walking the talk on Afghanistan is Herculean, so silence is golden.

Five, the hasty evacuation, with hundreds of Afghans running along the C-17, captured the magnitude of the American blunders. Still, let American scholars and elite examine, analyse and criticise the follies of various administrations and agencies. Such scholarly debates won't change Indian interests and fortunes. Instead, let's look inward and ask: Did we read our neighbourhood right? If so, why does no one want us to play a role in Afghanistan?

Heartening sight

The photograph published in the front page of the newspaper (Sep 2) was excellent. The sight of students in uniform carrying their lunch bags after a long time is heartening. Kudos to the photographer and the newspaper.

Arms in Taliban's hands

There is something sinister about the rapid takeover by Taliban forces almost without any resistance by the so-called Afghan army, following the withdrawal of American troops. Retreating forces are not expected to place arms and ammunition in the enemy's hand. The acquisition of modern weapons by the Taliban gives an impression that the so-called government forces had pro-Taliban elements in them. One wonders whether there was really a government worth the name in that country for the past two decades.

Why list LIC?

Listing LIC on the stock exchange might turn out to be a bad idea as mentioned in the opinion article published on Sep 2. It reminds one of demonetisation. Though ambitious, this may put a spoke in the wheel of a machine that is running well.

Ashwin excluded again

It is disheartening to see R Ashwin not being given a chance again. It seems there are ego clashes. The reason Virat Kohli gave for the exclusion of the bowler currently ranked no. 2 in the world was perplexing. We need a cool captain like Kane Williamson. We all saw how Ajinkya Rahane captained India to victory in the Test series against Australia. It is high time the BCCI changes the captain in all formats.

Inexplicable decision

The team management's decision to leave out their best spinner in all the four Tests is inexplicable. If India lose this Test, coach Ravi Shastri and captain Kohli have to be held accountable.

MEA says concerns over use of Af soil for anti-India activities conveyed to militia

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

DAYS after publicly acknowledging engagement with the Taliban, India on Thursday said it was still 'early days' as far as recognition of the group is concerned.

"During the meeting, we conveyed to them that evacuation of our nationals is our priority. Also, we conveyed to them our concerns regarding the use of Afghan soil for terror activities and anti-India activities," Ministry of External Affairs spokesperson Arindam Bagchi said in response to a question on recognition of the group.

The response comes after India's envoy to Qatar, Deepak Mittal's meeting with head of the Taliban's political office in Doha, Mohammed Abbad Stanekzai. Bagchi said India's focus is not on whether the Taliban is a terror organisation. "Let me reiterate that the focus is that Afghan soil should not be used for terrorist activities of any kind or anti-India activities and we will try to focus on that element," Bagchi said.

On reports of government formation by the Taliban and whether India would be represented in the inauguration, Bagchi said there was no update or any invitation that has been extended in this regard.

Asked if India had a roadmap to deal with the Taliban, the spokesperson said, "We wouldn't have done anything without giving it some thought. Let's see how things move," he said and added there was no update on any future meeting with the group.

On the status of Afghan nationals coming to India, the spokesperson said emergency e-visas being issued since August 16 were valid for six months. Other Afghans who were already in India had had their visas automatically extended during the pandemic and internal discussions were ongoing on other specific issues.

Visas extended till Sept 30

The Centre on Thursday announced extension of visas till September 30 for all foreign nationals who are stuck in India due to the ongoing COVID-19 pandemic.

Indian officials see cause for concern in Qaeda call to liberate Islamic lands

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

THE inclusion of Kashmir and exclusion of Chechnya and Xinjiang in Al-Qaeda's statement calling for "global jihad" to liberate "Islamic lands" shows Pakistan's ISI link with Al-Qaeda, government sources said on Thursday. They added that the terror outfit's statement of "global jihad" to liberate "Islamic lands" after the last American soldier left Afghanistan on August 31 midnight is a cause for concern for India.

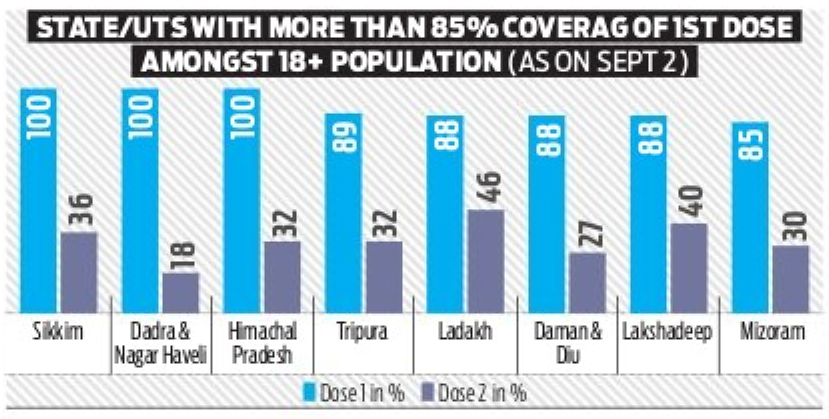
An official in the security establishment pointed out Kashmir was earlier never a priority for Taliban, which was congratulated by Al-Qaeda on Tuesday for their swift takeover of Afghanistan. "The latest Al-Qaeda statement exposes ISI's hand. The statement is ought to encourage Pakistan-based terror outfits like Lashkar-e-Taiba and Jaish-e-Mohammad to plan attacks in India. But the security agencies are on high alert to detect possible anti-national activities," the official said.

Another senior government functionary said the government is monitoring developments in Afghanistan. "Government is aware that Al-Qaeda is trying to radicalise Muslims in the world. We believe Pakistan is pushing ahead its agenda through Al-Qaeda," he said.

According to sources, Pakistan has made its hand evident behind controlling Ayman Al Zawahiri, the chief of Al-Qaeda. Security agencies believe even Taliban's Supreme Commander Haibatullah Akhundzada is reportedly in the custody of Pakistan's ISI.

Chechnya in Russia and China's Xinjiang being kept out from the targets of "liberation" through jihad is significant. "Liberate the Levant, Somalia, Yemen, Kashmir and the rest of the Islamic lands from the clutches of the enemies of Islam. O' Allah! Grant freedom to Muslim prisoners across the world," read Al-Qaeda's statement.

Security experts — including army veterans and Jammu & Kashmir cops — had told this newspaper that the recent developments in Afghanistan will have implications in the insurgency in Jammu & Kashmir. Home ministry officials also spoke about this.



Eight Maharashtra districts show rise in Covid numbers

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

Pune district's weekly positivity rate is 6.15%, while it is 4.85% in Ahmednagar, 4.02% in Sangli and 3.97% in Satara. Osamanabad has reported 3.56%, Sindhudurg 3.18%, Solapur 2.60% and Ratnagiri 2.59%. All eight are above the state average of 2.58%.

There are 51,238 active cases in the state. Pune has the most of them with 13,515, which is around 26.38%. Thane, Satara and Ahmednagar are also high on active cases.

The state health department report also reveals that in the last 10 days, Pune has reported the highest number of positive cases — 9,506 out of 44,366 cases across the state. There were 7,014 fresh cases in Ahmednagar, 5,390 in Satara, 4,692 in Solapur and 4,285 in Sangli in the same period.

In Mumbai also, positive cases are increasing, from an average of 300-350 per day to 416 on September 1. A total of 32 buildings with more than five positive cases have been sealed by the local civic body to contain the outbreak.

Maharashtra Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray warned that the state is the second after Kerala in terms of positive cases in India and therefore, they cannot ignore health experts who are warning of a third wave. He said the Central government had also asked them to take precautions and not allow big gatherings during festivals like Dahi Handi and Ganesh Chaturthi. "We request people not to fall in the trap of the Opposition who are interested doing politics. For us, lives of the people is of utmost importance," he said.

EAM talks to Iranian counterpart

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

EXTERNAL Affairs Minister S Jaishankar held a telephonic conversation with new Iranian Foreign Minister Hossein Amirabdollahian late on Wednesday. The two leaders discussed bilateral issues and the situation in Afghanistan.

"A warm congratulatory call to Iranian FM @Amirabdolahian. Agreed to strengthen our bilateral cooperation. Discussed pressing regional issues. Appreciate Iran's facilitation of our repatriation flights from Afghanistan," the external affairs minister tweeted. It is learnt that the two leaders agreed to expedite the completion of Chabahar Port, a joint India-Iran-Afghanistan venture.

Iran had last week approved the appointment of Amirabdollahain as foreign minister in the Ebrahim Raisi dispensation. Last month, Jaishankar represented India at the swearing-in ceremony of Raisi in Tehran, in reflection of the importance India attaches to its ties with Iran.

Jaishankar also held a conversation with UK Foreign Secretary Dominic Raab as a part of reaching out to friendly countries regarding the situation in Afghanistan. It was the third time that the two discussed Afghanistan since it fell to the Taliban. They had previously spoken on August 15 and 19.

"Nice speaking again to UK Foreign Secretary @DominicRaab. Conversation focused on Afghanistan related developments," Jaishankar tweeted. "Good to talk with Foreign Minister @DrSJaishankar today," tweeted Raab.

Nikki Haley warns India against Chinese moves

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

FORMER US envoy to the United Nations, Nikki Haley has warned that the Chinese are looking to take over the Bagram air base and will use Pakistan to go stronger against India.

"We need to watch China because I think you are going to see China make a move for Bagram air force base. I think they are also making a move in Afghanistan and trying to use Pakistan to get stronger to go against India. So, we have got a lot of issues," she said. Haley said that US President Joe Biden has lost the trust of allies after his hurried decision to withdraw troops from Afghanistan that led to the takeover of the war-torn country by the Taliban.

"The biggest thing he should do is strengthen our allies, strengthen those relationships, modernise our military and make sure we are prepared for the cyber crimes and terrorist crimes headed our way," the former diplomat said.

SC anguished by spread of fake news on social media

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi

EXPRESSING concern over fake and communal news on web portals, and YouTube channels that slander reputations in the absence of a regulatory mechanism, the Supreme Court emphasised if this were to continue unchecked, then it may get a bad name for the country.

A bench headed by Chief Justice of India NV Ramana said, "On web portals, there is no control, they can publish anything. If you go to YouTube, you will find how fake news is freely circulated and anyone can start a channel on YouTube."

The bench observed that the content shown in a section of private media bears a communal tone. "The problem is everything in this country is shown with a communal angle by a section of the media," the CJI noted. He told Solicitor General Tushar Mehta, "Ultimately, this country is going to get a bad name. Have you made an attempt for a self-regulatory mechanism (for private channels)?"

Mehta said the Centre has come out with new Information and Technology rules, which address concerns flagged by the top court. The bench agreed to hear after six weeks the Centre's plea seeking transfer of petitions to the apex court that are pending in high courts against the validity of new IT Rules.

Journalist and ex-MP Chandan Mitra dies, PM & Mamata mourn loss

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @New Delhi/Kolkata

FORMER BJP Rajya Sabha MP and journalist Chandan Mitra passed away on Wednesday night at his New Delhi residence. Mitra was 66 and he had been suffering for a while. He is survived by his wife and two sons.

"Since it is already out there.. Dad passed away late last night. He had been suffering for a while," tweeted his son Kushan Mitra.

Mitra's death was followed by condolence messages from across party lines. Prime Minister Narendra Modi and West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banarjee were among those expressing grief.

"Shri Chandan Mitraji will be remembered for his intellect and insights. He distinguished himself in the world of media as well as politics. Anguished by his demise. Condolences to his family and admirers. Om Shanti," tweeted the Prime Minister.

Mitra was the managing director of Delhi-based The Pioneer till June this year. In 2018, Mitra joined Trinamool Congress. He had begun his political journey in 2003, when he was nominated as a BJP Rajya Sabha member. He was elected for another term in the Upper House of Parliament from Madhya Pradesh.

"Saddened by the demise of Chandan Mitra. He will be remembered for his contribution to the world of journalism and politics. Heartfelt condolences to his family and loved ones," tweeted the West Bengal Chief Minister.

1955-2021

Before Oxford University, Mitra went to La Martiniere for Boys school in Kolkata and then to Delhi's St Stephen's College. Before joining The Pioneer, he worked with The Statesman, The Times of India, The Sunday Observer and The Hindustan Times.

Sharing a photo from a school trip in 1972, BJP's Rajya Sabha MP Swapan Dasgupta tweeted, "I lost my closest friend — editor of Pioneer & former MP Chandan Mitra — this morning. We were together as students of La Martiniere & went on to St Stephen's & Oxford. We joined journalism at the same time & shared the excitement of Ayodhya & the saffron wave."

Madhya Pradesh CM Shivraj Singh Chouhan and Punjab CM Amarinder Singh also expressed grief.

Schoolboy takes up project to green deserts

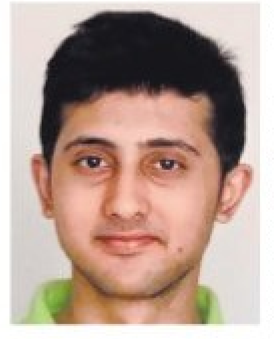
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

ADHI DAIV, a Class 11 student of Shri Ram School at Moulsari, Gurugram, is running a crowdfunding campaign, Project Urvara, which aims to plant trees in deserts, starting with the arid regions of Sikar district, Rajasthan, to eradicate the problems of water scarcity and agriculture in the state.

"I did extensive research two years ago to find plausible solutions to tackle problems of water scarcity and agriculture in deserts. I interacted with environmentalist Sundaram Verma, a Padma Shri awardee, who taught me about growing plants with the 'one-litre water technique' he had put in practice," says Adhi.

He adds that attending various environment-driven workshops, such as those organised by Paani Foundation, made him understand that deforestation was the root cause of water scarcity in states like Rajasthan. "I started with this project in my ancestral village in Rajasthan during the lockdown last year, and have been working to facilitate hassle-free water at the doorsteps of women residing in arid regions," he says.

How does the one-litre water technique work? "The process requires 30 centimetres of deep soil ploughing that has to be done five days before the beginning and just after the conclusion of the monsoon. Through this process, moisture of the soil can be absorbed by eliminating weeds and controlling capillary action in the upper soil surface that allows recharging of aquifers." The entire agriculture procedure could be completed in three months with the help of a tractor or might take a little longer if done manually.



This dryland agroforestry method of plantation underlines the three pillars of sustainability – the economy, society and environment. "Our environment-friendly project will generate employment, especially for women in villages, as they can grow and sell fruits and vegetables grown in their yards," Adhi says, adding that green fodder obtained as a by-product could be used for feeding animals, and raw materials extracted from trees could be used by artisans and small-scale industries to manufacture toys.

The 15-year old wishes to share this water conservation technique with governments of other states as well. "As this technique can be practiced only during the monsoon, we plan to use the remaining months to raise awareness about this farming process with other governments," he says.

Sikar is an arid district located between Agra and the Thar desert of Rajasthan and receives less than 400mm annual rainfall.

"We are approaching a few Government Girls Schools in Sikar and teaching the girls to use the technique to plant trees on barren lands," says Adhi. They are also planting fruits and vegetables in schools, that are served in midday meals.

They have also planted trees in gaushalas that are usually built in arid lands, and hope to feed green fodder to cows. He complains that the government of Rajasthan has been providing only dry grass instead of green grass to gaushalas.

"We have planted around 2,200 trees on 11 acres of arid region in Sikar, using Rs 3.36 lakh generated. This money includes Rs 1,50,900 raised through 'Fuel A Dream' fund-raising campaign," he says.

The Science enthusiast did a similar ecological campaign in 2019 that raised around Rs 62,000 and helped more than 20 women of Alwar district in Rajasthan, by providing them with free waterwheels for their daily needs.

Project Urvara hopes to convert barren deserts and wastelands of Nagaur, Jodhpur, Hanumangarh, Sriganganagar, Churu, and Jhunjhunu in Rajasthan and other cities in North India into green lands soon.

MP to auction filming right of cheetahs in the wild

NEW DELHI: India is yet to reintroduce cheetah into the wild, but the Madhya Pradesh government already has big plans for it. Getting ready for eight of these big cats from South Africa, the state is also thinking of auctioning rights to film the conservation programme of cheetahs it is going to launch. If things go according to plans, MP will receive five male and three female cheetahs from South Africa around November. They will be released in the Kuno National Park. The cheetah was declared extinct in India in 1952 following excessive killing. As of now, the government has decided that filming rights of this conservation work will be auctioned starting from a base price of `42 lakh. It has given a global call to grant exclusive rights to the highest bidder.

CBI arrests Deshmukh's lawyer over report leak

Sub-inspector who let out details of preliminary enquiry identified

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mumbai

FORMER Maharashtra Home Minister Anil Deshmukh's lawyer Anand Daga was arrested on Wednesday night for allegedly trying to influence a CBI inspector to leak the preliminary inquiry report of the agency, giving clean chit to Anil Deshmukh in ₹100 crore extortion case.

Daga has been taken to Delhi on a transit remand. Besides, the sub-inspector of CBI, who leaked the probe report has been identified as Abhishek Tiwari and has been arrested by the CBI.

Meanwhile, Deshmukh approached the Bombay High Court seeking to quash a summons issued by the Enforcement Directorate (ED) against him. The ED is investigating a money laundering case against Deshmukh linked to the ₹100 crore extortion case. The ED's case is that while serving as the state home minister, Deshmukh allegedly misused his position and through dismissed police officer Sachin Waze collected crores of rupees from various bars and restaurants in Mumbai.

The ED has already issued five summonses to Deshmukh. However, Deshmukh has refused to heed to the summonses citing the pandemic. Earlier, the Supreme Court refused to entertain Deshmukh's plea and asked him to approach the appropriate forum.

On Wednesday evening, Anil Deshmukh's son-in-law Gaurav Chaturvedi and lawyer Anand Gada were detained and taken into CBI custody. Gaurav Chaturvedi was later released.

"The CBI has registered a case against sub-inspector, a Nagpur-based advocate and unknown others on certain allegations, including illegal gratification...searches, have been conducted in Allahabad and Delhi," an official of the bureau said.

Guv against Khadse's nomination as MLC

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @Mumbai

THE standoff in Maharashtra over the appointment of 12 MLCs continued even after Chief Minister Uddhav Thackeray, deputy Chief Minister Ajit Pawar and Congress minister Balasaheb Thorat held a meeting with Governor Bhagat Singh Koshyari on Wednesday night.

After the Bombay High Court observed that the governor cannot indefinitely put on hold the appointment of MLCs nominated by the government, Uddhav Thackeray once again sought to push the governor on the appointment of 12 MLCs.

According to sources, the governor raised objections over two (NCP leader Eknath Khadse and farmer leader Raju Shetti) of the 12 names submitted by the government. However, the governor's office refused to confirm or deny this. Ajit Pawar said he was told that Raju Shetti, who lost in the 2019 Lok Sabha polls, cannot be nominated as an MLC through the governor's quota. Pawar pointed out that, however, in 2014, BJP leader Arun Jaitely lost the Lok Sabha polls in Amritsar but was nominated to Rajya Sabha and made the Union finance minister. "We are checking various issues so that there should not be any obstructions while appointing these 12 names as MLCs," Pawar said.

The governor also objected to Khadse being made an MLC.

"The Pune land case against Eknath Khadse and an ongoing inquiry by Enforcement Directorate against him were cited as the reasons for delay in the approval of 12 names. Besides, Raju Shetti's name was propped up. However, we have not been told by the governor in writing on specific names and issues. We tried to pursue this issue diligently," said a senior minister in Maha Vikas Aghadi government. Another minister said that the governor has no right to reject the names proposed by the elected government. "Ours is an elected government, and so, the governor has no right to interfere and raise objections to any name."

Geelani given quiet burial by police, before sunrise amid high security

FAYAZ WANI @Srinagar

THE body Hardline separatist and former Hurriyat Conference chairman Syed Ali Shah Geelani, who died on Wednesday night, was given a quiet burial before the sunrise on Thursday amid high security.

His family alleged that the police forcibly took his body and quietly buried it at a graveyard near his residence at 4.45 am, sources said. Only a handful of people were allowed to attend his funeral prayers.

Geelani's son Naeem Geelani told this newspaper that nobody from his family was allowed to attend the burial.

"The police stormed into our house around 3 am, misbehaved with the people present inside, including women and forcibly took away Geelani's body. The women were dragged out of the room and threatened they will be fired at," he alleged.

Naeem said it was the police who gave Geelani his last bath. They also dug his grave and buried him after giving a funeral prayer. "All this was done in our absence and none from family attended his burial or funeral prayers".

He said IG and SSP Budgam visited their home and they told them that Geelani's last wish was that his body is buried in the martyrs graveyard at Eidgah.

"They said it is not possible. We told them to give us permission to bury the body quietly in martyrs graveyard Eidgah. However, they did not agree and said they have orders to get the body buried before dawn," Naeem said.

The police denied the allegations and said Geelani's family members were present at the funeral site.

TIGHT COVER

Restrictions were imposed in Srinagar and other parts of the Valley to foil attempts from Geelani's supporters to reach his residence. Security forces had placed concertina wires and armoured vehicles on the roads.

BJP strengthening its booth-level network to retain power in UP

NAMITA BAJPAI @Lucknow

Uttar Pradesh's ruling Bharatiya Janata Party has begun gearing up for the 2022 Assembly elections. The party is busy working out equations with smaller parties in the state.

As per sources, the party functionaries have been instructed to speed up the membership campaign and take it to the next level. The main element of the BJP's strategy to win elections is to fortify the booths. Following the same line as 2017, the BJP is not leaving anything to chance. The ground-level preparations have made it clear that a galaxy of seniors leaders and an army of small workers will be involved at the booth level. The saffron strategy is to take on opposition leaders right at the booth level.

As per the highly placed sources, the party has started a campaign to increase the number of ward and booth level workers in every district. Instructions have been given to those in charge to strengthen the booths. A target has been given to add new workers at every booth level.

At least 50 people will be given party memberships at each booth and ward level. The party is also taking caste and regional equations into consideration. That is, in the area where a certain caste is dominated, the worker-leader of the same caste will be entrusted with fortifying the booth.

The strategy to strengthen booth, part of the BJP's booth victory campaign, was launched by BJP President JP Nadda on August 23. However, it couldn't pick the needed pace because of the death of former Chief Minister Kalyan Singh. Party leaders have also been given the responsibility of taking this campaign forward. The big wigs, including BJP Organisation Secretary Sunil Bansal along with being involved in the formation of booth committees, interacted with local leaders and workers to take the campaign forward and rope in more people.

BJP worries as five Bengal lawmakers skip meet

PRANAB MONDAL @Kolkata

FUELLING speculation that the BJP's north Bengal citadel may witness defections similar to the two back-to-back ones in south Bengal, five BJP MLAs from the northern region skipped the first party conference of elected legislators since the Assembly elections. Out of the 29 MLAs, only 24 attended the conference to discuss strategies to consolidate the party's base in the region.

The five MLAs who skipped the meeting are: Ashok Lahiri of Balurghat, Satyen Roy of Gangarampur, Manoj Oraon of Kumargram, Joyel Murmu of Habibpur and Gopal Saha of Malda.

"But the absence of almost one-fifth of the total MLAs in north Bengal appears to be abnormal when it was the first post-poll party conference of the elected MLAs,'' said a BJP leader.

On Monday, the BJP's Bishnupur MLA Tanmoy Ghosh joined the TMC, and the next day, Bagda MLA Biswajit Das followed suit.

If more MLAs shift sides, it will have a massive impact on our electoral performance,'' said another BJP leader.

The absence of five MLAs in the conference also triggered doubts as to whether there is a rift in the party over the issue of statehood for north Bengal.

Alipurduar MP John Barla had recently demanded either a separate statehood for the region or its inclusion in the Union territory. While the state BJP president Dilip Ghosh backed Barla's demand, many others in the party have not.

Pandemic stress blamed as close to 40% first-year MBBS students fail exam

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @Patna

FOR the first time, close to 40% of MBBS students have failed in their first-year examinations in Bihar. A total of 1,172 first-year MBBS students appeared for the offline examinations held in March this year from Bihar's nine medical colleges.

As many as 447 of them failed. The results were declared on August 30.

Following such unprecedented number of failures, the student wing of the Indian Medical Association (IMA) has urged the chancellor of Bihar to conduct a reevaluation of the answer sheets of those who have failed. The student body cited the impact of the pandemic on the students for such high failure rate.

They said teaching was conducted online, but exams were held offline as a result of which the students faced a lot of problems while answering the questions.

The examination was conducted in March adhering to Covid-19 protocols.

As per the letter written to the governor -cum-chancellor, of the total number of students who have failed, 104 were from Madhubani Medical College and 56 from the Bettiah Government Medical College.

When contacted, Rajiv Ranjan, the controller of exams of the Aryabhatta Knowledge University, which conducts the examinations of all these nine medical colleges, said that there is no provision for conducting re-evaluation of such a large number of failed students.

"But the university has allowed them to appear in the second supplementary examination, starting from September 27. And they are filling up forms for this examination," the controller of examinations Rajiv Ranjan told this newspaper.

The examination of first year MBBS students of 2019 batch was delayed three months. The results of the exams were declared seven months later on August 30.

Universities likely to reopen by month-end

Secretariat workers told to watch out for hackers

With the Civil Secretariat digitalising, the administration has cautioned officials to remain vigilant about attempts by hackers to steal critical data. "The implementation of e-office in the Civil Secretariat has brought about a great deal of efficiency in the overall working and disposal of Government business in Jammu and Kashmir besides ensuring functionality of the Civil Secretariat both at Jammu and Srinagar. Notwithstanding these benefits, this online system like any other IT-based system is susceptible to online invasions especially hacking," reads an official circular. It cautioned the officers that while security of the system is being strengthened, dangers of hacking cannot be overruled.

TALIBAN CLOSE TO FORMING GOVT AS WOMEN PROTEST

Group's top religious leader Mullah Hebatullah Akhundzada to be supreme authority, says a senior leader; defiant protesters call for right to education, work

KABUL

THE Taliban on Thursday said they were close to forming a new government, as dozens of women held a rare protest for the right to work under a new regime that faces enormous economic hurdles and deep public mistrust.

The militants, who have pledged a softer brand of rule than during their brutal reign of 1996-2001, must now transform from insurgent group to governing power.

The Taliban are set to announce the formation of a new government on the lines of the Iranian leadership, with the group's top religious leader Mullah Hebatullah Akhundzada as Afghanistan's supreme authority, a senior member of the group has said. "Consultations are almost finalised on the new government, and the necessary discussions have also been held about the cabinet," said Mufti Inamullah Samangani, a senior official in the Taliban's information and culture commission.

The announcement of a cabinet, which two Taliban sources said may take place on Friday following afternoon prayers, would come just days after the chaotic pullout of US forces from Afghanistan, ending America's longest war with an astounding military victory for the group.

In the new set-up, 60-year-old Mullah Akhundzada will be the Supreme Leader of the Taliban government, which will follow the pattern of the Iranian leadership. "Mullah Akhunzada will be the leader of the government and there should be no question on this," he said, indicating that the president will work under his oversight.

In one of the most symbolic moments since the takeover of Kabul on August 15, the militants on Wednesday paraded some of the military hardware they had captured during their offensive, even flying a Black Hawk helicopter over Kandahar, their movement's spiritual heartland.

Now, all eyes are on whether the Taliban can deliver a cabinet capable of managing a war-wracked economy and honour the movement's pledges of a more "inclusive" government.

Speculation is rife about the make-up of a new government, although a senior official said Wednesday that women were unlikely to be included.

Meanwhile, in the western city of Herat, some 50 women took to the streets in a rare, defiant protest for the right to work and over the lack of female participation in the new government.

"It is our right to have education, work and security," the demonstrators chanted in unison, said a journalist who witnessed the protest. "We are not afraid, we are united," they added. Herat is a relatively cosmopolitan city on the ancient silk road near the Iranian border. It is one of the more prosperous in Afghanistan and girls have already returned to school there. Agencies

Qatar, Turkey work with Taliban to reopen airport

Doha: Qatar said on Thursday that it is working with the Taliban to quickly reopen Kabul's airport, whose closure since the departure of US troops could pose major strategic and humanitarian challenges. A jet from the Gulf country was the first foreign aircraft to land in the Afghan capital on Wednesday since frenzied evacuations ended a day earlier with the American withdrawal. Doha, a major transit point for Afghan refugees, said it was working hard to swiftly resume operations at Kabul airport. "We remain hopeful that we will be able to operate it as soon as possible," said Foreign Minister Sheikh Mohammed bin Abdulrahman al-Thani, whose country has close contacts with the Taliban which assumed control of Kabul on August 15. 'Will run out of food stocks by end of this month'

UNITED NATIONS

THE United Nations' food stockpiles in Afghanistan could run out this month and there is a critical need for $200 million to provide food to the most vulnerable, a senior United Nations official has warned.

Deputy Special Representative and Humanitarian Coordinator in Afghanistan Ramiz Alakbarov said that at least one-third of the conflict-torn country's population currently is "not sure that they will have a meal every day or not. This is what is going on".

"By the end of September, the stocks which the World Food Programme has in the country will be out. We will be out of stock. We will not be able to provide those essential food items because we'll be out of stock," Alakbarov told reporters during a virtual press briefing from Kabul on Wednesday.

"For us to keep the current demand, we need at least $200 million only for the food sector to be able to provide food to the most vulnerable," he said. He noted with concern that most of those vulnerable are children and more than half of the children in the country under the age of five are suffering from extreme malnutrition and "those children will not get food".

He emphasised that the food insecurity is "very apparent" throughout the entire territory of the country and more than 600,000 people are displaced as a result of the conflict.

Pakistan shuts key border crossing with Af

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN on Thursday temporarily closed a key border crossing with Afghanistan, apparently due to fear of the influx of refugees eager to leave their homeland after the Taliban seized power last month. Chaman border crossing — the second-largest commercial border point with Afghanistan after the Torkham commercial town in Khyber Pakhtunkhwa — has been closed due to security threats, Geo News reported, citing sources.

Earlier in the day, Interior Minister Sheikh Rashid Ahmed had said that the Chaman crossing may be closed for some days due to security threats.

He said there was calm in and around the border. "Our forces are present at the border. We are proud of our security institutions for the service they are rendering for the security of the country," he said.

He said Pakistan desires peace and stability in Afghanistan. PTI

Afghan boy dies after eating poisonous mushrooms in Poland

WARSAW: Doctors at Poland's main children's hospital on Thursday said a five-year-old Afghan boy, recently evacuated from Kabul, has died and his six-year-old brother, who has undergone a liver transplant, remains in life-threatening condition after they ate poisonous mushrooms. The boys and their older sister were hospitalised last week. The family picked and ate highly poisonous death cap mushrooms in the forest around the refugee centre where they were staying in Podkowa Lesna, near Warsaw.

EU mulls reaction force after evacuation

BRDO CASTLE (SLOVENIA)

EU defence ministers on Thursday discussed proposals for a European rapid reaction force after the bloc was left on the sidelines during the US-led evacuation from Afghanistan.

Calls have grown for the 27-nation group to develop its own joint military capability to respond quickly to crises in the wake of the chaotic scenes at Kabul airport after the Taliban seized power.

Ministers are set to revisit a proposal -- first aired in May – to set up a 5,000-strong force as part of a review of the EU's overall strategy expected to be finalised next year. But there are major doubts that there would be the political will to engage such a force, as the bloc has never used a system of so-called battlegroups set up in 2007. "It's clear that the need for more European defence has never been as much as evident as today after the events in Afghanistan," EU foreign policy chief Josep Borrell said at the start of the meeting. AFP

65 dead as fighting for Yemen's Marib flares up

DUBAI

SIXTY-FIVE combatants have been killed in fighting after Yemen's Huthi rebels renewed an offensive on Marib, the last government stronghold in the country's oil-rich north, a military official said on Thursday.

The Iran-backed rebels attacked pro-government positions south of the strategic city, making progress despite losing dozens of fighters in coalition air strikes. It was the Huthis' first major offensive on Marib, the key to controlling the region, since June, when 111 fighters on both sides died in three days of clashes.

"Twenty-two pro-government (forces) were killed and 50 others were wounded, while 43 Huthi rebels were also killed in the last 48 hours," said a government military official.

The resurgence in fighting comes after strikes on Yemen's largest airbase, in the country's south, killed at least 30 pro-government fighters on Sunday in the deadliest incident since December.

It also comes just days before the United Nations' new special envoy for Yemen, Swedish diplomat Hans Grundberg, takes up his duties. Yemen's internationally recognised government — backed by a Saudi-led military coalition — and Huthis have been locked in war since 2014, when the insurgents seized the capital Sanaa.

In February, the Huthis escalated their efforts to take Marib in fighting that killed hundreds on both sides. AFP

Receding floodwater reveal the damage caused by Hurricane Ida in Louisiana | AP

Four days after Ida, storm recovery uneven in Louisiana

NEW ORLEANS

IN NEW Orleans, an ongoing power outage after Hurricane Ida is making the sweltering summer unbearable. But in some areas outside the city, that misery is compounded by a lack of water, flooded neighbourhoods and severely damaged homes.

Four days after Hurricane Ida struck, the storm's aftermath "and progress in recovering from it" are being felt unevenly across affected communities in Louisiana. The levee system revamped after Katrina protected New Orleans from catastrophic flooding after Ida struck on Sunday with 150 mph winds, tied for the fifth-strongest hurricane to ever hit the mainland US.

The power was back on before dawn on Thursday in parts of the city's central business district, Uptown, Midtown, New Orleans East and the Carrollton area, the electricity company Entergy said. Utility crew also restored power to Ochsner's main hospital campus in Jefferson Parish and several hospitals near Baton Rouge. City crews completely cleared some New Orleans streets of fallen trees and debris, and a few corner stores reopened. Outside New Orleans, neighbourhoods remained flooded and residents were still reeling from damage to their homes and property.

More than 1,200 people were walking through some of Ida's hardest-hit communities to look for those needing help, according to the Louisiana Fire Marshal's office. President Joe Biden is scheduled to visit Louisiana on Friday to survey the damage. AP

Gunmen kidnap 73 students in latest attack on Nigeria school

LAGOS (NIGERIA)

GUNMEN abducted 73 students in yet another school attack in northwestern Nigeria, police said, prompting authorities to close all primary and secondary schools across Zamfara state.

The new kidnappings on Wednesday came just days after three other groups of hostages were freed when large ransom payments were reportedly made, raising hopes that other captives might soon be freed, too.

Attackers descended upon the Government Day Secondary School in the remote village of Kaya around noon on Wednesday, said Yusuf Mohammed, a local resident. The kidnappers then began shooting into the air before taking the students, he said.

Zamfara state police spokesman Mohammed Shehu said an operation was underway to rescue the students.

Government officials haven't commented on whether they played any role in the hostage releases announced on Friday, but it appears parents from at least one of those schools did pay a large ransom. The head teacher at one of the schools in Niger state said that many parents sold most of what they owned in an effort to raise funds totalling more than 30 million naira (about $72,900).

The Salihu Tanko Islamiya School also sold off a piece of land where they had planned an expansion project, he added.

Those 90 pupils freed were the youngest hostages ever taken from a school in Nigeria, with children as young as four taken into the remote forests by gunmen and held for three months without their parents. It remains unclear whether the kidnappers of the three separate hostage groups last week are connected or if the simultaneous releases were merely coincidental. AP

Over 1,000 abducted

More than 1,000 students have been kidnapped from schools in northern Nigeria since December. While most pupils ultimately have been released, some have died or been killed in captivity and about 200 remained hostages before Wednesday's attack, according to UNICEF.

Exports grow by 45% to touch $33.17 bn in August

India's overall shipments in April-August rise by 67% to $163 bn against year-ago period

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

EXPORTS continued its growth momentum posting an increase of 45.17% in August touching $33.14 billion, mainly on account of engineering goods, petroleum and gems and jewellery exports.

According to the data released by the commerce ministry, the numbers were up by 27.5% compared to August, 2019, before the pandemic.

However, even imports saw a rise in equal proportion, going up by 51.5% to $47 billion on account of crude oil, gold and electronics imports, pushing the trade deficit at $13.87 billion, against $ 8.2 billion during the corresponding period of last year. Cumulatively, exports have grown by 66.92% to $163 billion in the April-August period of FY22 (2021-22) as compared to the same period of 2020.

The top sectors, which performed impressively during the month, were engineering goods, petroleum products, gems and jewellery, organic & inorganic chemicals, drugs and pharmaceuticals, cotton yarn/fabrics/made-ups and handloom products among others.

According to A Sakthivel, President, FIEO, continuous growth in exports since March not only augurs well for the economy as whole but also shows resilience of exports.

"Steady recovery in global trade added with the expectation of buoyant order booking position for the coming months has also led to such continuous growth in exports," he said.

Exporters' body say that though the government has announced a slew of measures to support exports including the announcement of much awaited RoSCTL and RoDTEP, the need of the hour is to soon address the left out key issues.

"Augmenting the flow of empty containers and establishing a regulatory authority to seek justification of freight hike and imposition of various charges by the shipping lines need urgent intervention of the government," FIEO chief said.

'India's future unicorns worth $36 bn'

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S future unicorns are worth $36 billion, according to Hurun India's Future Unicorn List 2021 released on Thursday.

Sequoia-backed retail store Zilingo, gaming company Mobile Premier League, and cloud kitchen start-up Rebel Foods are the top three firms in the list set to become India's next unicorns. Others in the top 10 include Cure.Fit, Spinny, RateGain, Mamaearth, CarDekho, GreyOrange and MobiKwik.

The start-ups in the list released by Hurun Research Institute have raised $12.1 billion funding till now from more than 300 investors. With 37 investments, Sequoia is the leading investor followed by Tiger Global Management with 18 investments.

In terms of sectors, FinTech is a clear leader with 18 start-ups on the list, followed by E-commerce (17) and SaaS (7).

"E-commerce, FinTech, Shared Economy and SaaS contribute more than half of the companies featured in the list... In 2020, despite the unprecedented challenges due to Covid-19, the FinTech, E-commerce and Shared Economy sectors raised investment to the tune of $2.8 billion, $2.5 billion and $1 billion respectively," says the report.

Anas Rahman Junaid, MD and Chief Researcher, Hurun India, said, preparing the Hurun List was difficult due to the positive hyperactivity in the Indian start-up ecosystem. Hurun India report mentions that India added circa three unicorns every month over the last year.

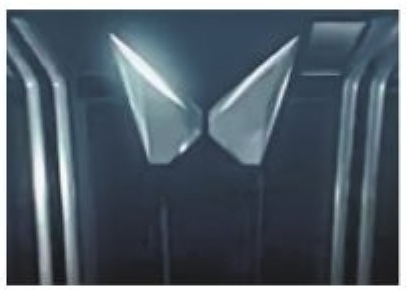
Opposition states to bat for extension of cess at GST meet; govt reluctant

ANURADHA SHUKLA @ New Delhi

AS Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman is scheduled to chair the 45th GST Council meeting on September 17 in Lucknow, states, mainly opposition ruled, are planning to push for extension of compensation cess beyond five years, given the aftershocks of Covid-19.

"As promised by the finance minister, on the top of the agenda is discussion of extension of GST compensation beyond five years. Even when Cess will continue to be levied till the entire borrowed amount is repaid, there are still finer points need to be discussed in advance," a finance ministry official told TNIE.

As decided last year, the Centre had borrowed ₹1.1 lakh crore under a special window and passed it on to the states as loan to help them meet the revenue shortfall. However, the shortfall in collection exceeded ₹1.1 lakh crore. For the current fiscal year, the Centre has estimated GST compensation shortfall to states at ₹1.59 lakh crore, of this, ₹75,000 crore has been released as first installment through central borrowings. With improvement in collection, Centre claims to compensate last year's pending as well as balance due. States had agreed to join the new tax regime, with a condition that they would be compensated for any revenue loss in the first 5 years, from July 1, 2017 to June 2022. States are demanding compensation beyond the promised deadline citing Covid shock. But, the Centre is reluctant to do so.



M&M to cut 25% production days in Sept due to chip shortage

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

AFTER Maruti Suzuki and Tata Motors, shortage of semiconductors will seriously dent production at Mahindra & Mahindra. The home-grown auto major on Thursday said that it will lose one-fourth of production days in September due to supply shortages of semiconductors which would lead to a commensurate drop in revenues and profitability.

"No Production Days' of around seven days will be observed at M&M's automotive division plants, which is estimated to result in a drop in production volumes by 20-25 percent in September...The revenue and profitability will be impacted in line with the fall in production volumes. The company is taking various cost optimisation measures to limit the impact. As the situation is dynamic, the company is carefully reviewing the supply situation and all efforts are being made to minimise the impact," said M&M in a regulatory filing.

"There will be no material impact of the above event on the XUV7OO production ramp-up and launch plans," it said.

The company's tractor operations, exports, trucks and buses business, and 3-wheeler production will be unaffected.

M&M's announcement comes days after Maruti Suzuki informed its total production volume across both Haryana and Gujarat could be around 40% of normal output while Tata said the chip shortage has forced the company to moderate production and offtake volumes in the coming months. The global shortage of semiconductor chips is hurting automobile production, that too at a time when demand is recovering from the second wave of the pandemic.

₹ may see slide show; to hit 76-77 levels by year-end

SUNITHA NATTI @Hyderabad

DESPITE the Indian rupee gaining 1.6% in the last six trading sessions -- even cracking an intra-day high of 72 against the US dollar, experts see the trend to reverse and go back to 76-77 levels by the year-end.

After gaining for last four days, the momentum has already slowed down. On Wednesday the rupee ended the four-session winning streak against the US dollar, closing 8 paise lower at 73.08, as sluggish domestic equities and a strengthening greenback overseas impacted on market confidence. On Thursday, the rupee appreciated 6 paise to 73.02 in opening trade, and closed at 72.96.

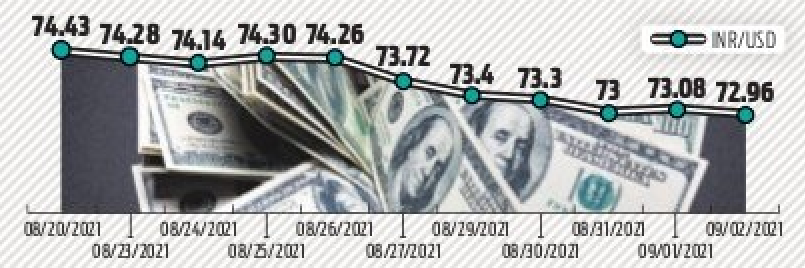
A host of factors are influencing rupee, which is one of the badly-hit Asian currencies of late. Chief among them includes the US Federal reserve's tapering of its bond-buying programme, followed by the Indian central bank's plans towards policy normalization to drain excess liquidity. A cross country comparison shows a better FPI (foreign portfolio investors) allocation in India and given the healthy foreign investor inflows, AT1 bond issuances, IPO-related inflows and rising FDI, the appreciation bias of rupee is evident. Lastly, the rising Covid-19 cases among Asian economies and the Chinese crackdown on technology stocks too are all bearing down heavily on the rupee.

"The surprise, however, was on account of RBI's hands off strategy, letting the rupee to be on stronger (and volatile) footing, outdoing gains seen in most Asian forex amid dollar index weakness. This is in contrast to July when most of Asian forex corrected on dollar strength. We note INR is the best performing emerging markets forex in Asia 3QCY21 so far, having returned 1.8%," noted Madhavi Arora, Lead Economist, Emkay Global Financial Services.

Arora said, a part of RBI's latest hands-off forex strategy could be to avoid letting the domestic liquidity conundrum convolute further, especially when they were lurching at huge forward maturity by August-end of $7.5 billion.

Experts are bearish in the short-term with the prospects of rupee going down to 73.50. On a near-term basis, the domestic unit is likely to test 76-77 levels as a relatively strong greenback by year end with risks from fluctuating crude prices and Covid headwinds lending depreciation bias for the domestic currency. The upward pressure may continue given the IPO line ups, and taper talks weighing less on global markets.

THE UPWARD MOVEMENT MAY HAVE COME TO AN END



Two-wheelers see slump at home, joy ride overseas

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

DOMESTIC two-wheeler sales are yet to recover from a slowdown, but manufacturers in India continue to enjoy strong demand for their products in overseas markets.

According to data available, exports of top 6 OEMs (original equipment manufacturers) have grown by 43% year-on-year in August 2021 even as domestic sales have fallen by 15% during the month.

Leading the export market from India is Pune-based Bajaj Auto. In August, its overseas shipments of 180,339 units saw a strong 26% year-on-year growth while demand in India fell 11% during the month to 157,971 units. In the first 5 months of this fiscal, Bajaj's 2W export has grown by 106% to 911,429 units as against 442,868 units shipped during April-August FY21.

Similarly, Chennai-based TVS reported that two-wheeler exports witnessed a growth of 60% at 94,314 units in August as against 58,888 units in the year-ago month. "The demand in the export market continues to be robust, and container availability is improving. We are optimistic of further improvement in container availability in the coming months," TVS said.

Domestic two-wheeler sales of TVS stood at 1,79,999 units in August 2021 as compared to 2,18,338 units in the year-ago month, down 18%. The company said its production and sales of premium two-wheelers were severely affected due to semiconductor shortage.

Hero MotorCorp and Honda (HMSI), India's top 2 two-wheeler makers, also saw slump in domestic sales. Hero's domestic sales in August 2021 fell 24% Y-o-Y to 4,31,137 units, but exports grew to 22,742 units from 15,782 units in August 2020. Similarly, Honda's domestic sales fell from 4,28,231 units in August 2020 to 4,01,469 units in August 2021. Its exports witnessed a near 2x jump to 29,214 units.

Karvy COO, CFO held in Indusind Bank fraud case

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

HYDERABAD police on Thursday arrested Rajiv Ranjan Singh, the Chief Operating officer and G. Krishna Hari, the Chief Financial Officer of Hyderabad-based Karvy Stock Broking Private Limited (KSBL), in connection with the Indusind Bank fraud case. A case was registered at the Central Crime Station (CCS) of Hyderabad city police on a complaint from the vice President of IndusInd Bank Hyderabad.

KSBL is accused of availing credit facilities of ₹137 crore from IndusInd bank by pledging securities and shares and personal guarantee of its Chairman and the Managing Director C Parthasarathi, by suppressing the facts that the pledged securities belong to the clients. The transactions were carried out without consent of the clients and also by misusing power of attorney, said Avinash Mohanty, Joint Commissioner of Police CCS, Hyderabad in a release.

Further, the securities were transferred into the Demat account of Karvy Stock Broking Private Limited and pledged before the IndusInd bank for margin and short term requirement in their businesses.

Meanwhile, in November 2019, The Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) revoked the pledge of securities with Banks and NBFCs and returned the securities and accounts. As a result, IndusInd bank was left with no collateral security. This resulted in Karvy group defaulting repayments to the tune of ₹137 crores as on March 31, 2021.

Telcos can't offer special tariffs on MNP: TRAI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Chennai

AFTER receiving complaints that special discounts were being provided to subscribers transferring between telecom service providers (TSP) using the mobile number portability (MNP) option, sector regulator Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (TRAI) said on Thursday that such special MNP-specific tariffs were discriminatory and a violation of current rules.

It directed TSPs to ensure that their channel partners or distributors only offered tariffs officially reported by the TSP to TRAI. The authority cited the Telecommunication Tariff Order, 1999 which says that no TSP shall "in any manner, discriminate between subscribers of the same class and such classification of the subscribers shall not be arbitrary". However, customers joining the TSP through MNP would not constitute a "valid and reasonable classification, as the motive behind such classification is apparently to induce churn from the competitors' network which is discriminatory", it pointed out.

Bulls make a comeback; momentum may continue

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

BULLS made a strong comeback on Thursday after widespread profit booking led to a small correction on Wednesday. The BSE Sensex gained nearly 1% or 514.33 points to close the Thursday session at 57,852.54 while the Nifty 50, which recorded a fresh all-time high of 17,245.50, closed at 17,234.15, up 157.90 points.

The market capitalisation of BSE-listed firms jumped to an all-time high of ₹252.68 lakh crore on Thursday. It surpassed the ₹250 lakh-crore mark on August 31. S Ranganathan, Head of Research at LKP Securities said, "Bulls took complete control today as the indices rose by almost a percentage to hit record highs on the back of the IT, cement and FMCG biggies."

"The broader markets were buzzing as the formalisation of the economy is enabling organised branded players to gain share. High-Frequency Indicators are pointing towards an uptick in rail freight, consumer durables and appliances ahead of the festive season," Ranganathan added.

Ruchit Jain (Senior Analyst - Technical and Derivatives, Angel Broking) said, "Yesterday, we highlighted that the relative strength index oscillator on lower time frame charts is overbought and next couple of sessions could be crucial to determine whether there's any pause in the ongoing trend. As of now, there's no sign of weakness and we may see the index moving towards its next resistances of 17270 and 17330. The near term support zone is now placed around 17100-17050 for Nifty."

Jain advised traders to look for sectors/stocks which are in momentum on a given day and trade with the trend in such counters. At higher levels, one should look to book timely profits on their trading positions.

Shardul lifts India after top order miss

India were all out for 191 on day one of the fourth Test against England here on Thursday. Virat Kohli made 50 off 96 balls while Shardul Thakur saved India the blushes with a sensational 57 off 36 balls in the final session. England produced another top class bowling effort after winning the toss with Chris Woakes taking four wickets and Ollie Robinson taking three. Robinson dismissed Virat Kohli for the third time in the series with the India skipper departing after a well made fifty. India reached 122 for six at tea. India struggled against the moving ball in the morning session, struggling to 54 for three at lunch. In reply, England were 53-3 at stumps.

IT is quite perplexing that of all the Tests that Ravichandran Ashwin hasn't featured so far on this tour against England, the uproar reached a crescendo at The Oval on Thursday. Part of it has to do with the history of the venue. Of all the venues in England, The Oval is the one ground where visiting teams, especially ones from the subcontinent, feel at home.

It is supposed to be the batting-friendly pitch, where spinners come into play as the match progresses. And with India losing the third Test by a huge margin and Ravindra Jadeja not contributing much with the ball, the calls to include Ashwin for the fourth started well before the team left Leeds.

This is why the decision to leave out the off-spinner, with 413 Test wickets to his name, raised eyebrows on Thursday. Time will tell whether it's a tactical blunder but the team management have gone ahead with four pacers as they expect spinners to have less of a role on a wicket that has a bit of grass cover. It is worth noting that Moeen Ali, the lone spinner in the XI, didn't even get to bowl in the first innings.

"It depends on the conditions and pitches," India's bowling coach, B Arun, said about Ashwin's omission on the eve of the Test. "Ashwin is one of the best bowlers we have. It is unfortunate he has not played so far. If we feel there is an opportunity and we feel he fits in the scheme of things, definitely they both will be bowling in tandem."

With England bringing back Chris Woakes to go with James Anderson and Ollie Robinson, this was never going to be a dry surface. With the series locked at 1-1 apiece, the hosts were going to keep some grass, especially when there are crucial World Test Championship (WTC) points at stake. And considering England have a gruelling Ashes tour coming up where many of their regulars may miss it given the quarantine rules in Australia, every point counts.

Like how India preferred turners in the home series earlier this year with a WTC spot up for grabs, England have chosen to maximise their home advantage. India knew this was coming and this is why they have gone against against popular perception by benching Ashwin the spinner, in favour of Jadeja, the batsman. This is not about Ashwin, the spinner vs Jadeja, the spinner. The conditions, as it is there to see, is loaded in favour of the seamers, so India's logic has been why weaken the batting by omitting Jadeja who has made vital runs at Nottingham and Lord's.

Since January 2020, India's No 3, 4 & 5 put together average 28.29 in 14 Tests, the second-lowest among all Test-playing nations. In India's defense, they have faced the most challenging situations on offer: New Zealand, Australia and England. Even in the home series against England, pitches suited spinners. So they have had to rely on lower-order for runs.

Tsitsipas moves into third round

AFP @New York

STEFANOS Tsitsipas took another trademark long bathroom break then credited it for advancing to the third round of the US Open on Wednesday as a storm lashing New York forced the suspension of an indoor match.

The 23-year-old Greek third seed was booed after taking more than eight minutes between the third and fourth sets but dominated after his extended toilet trip to flush Frenchman Adrian Mannarino 6-3, 6-4, 6-7 (4), 6-0 at Arthur Ashe Stadium. "I think taking a break and going to change — I was completely wet — I was refreshed," Tsitsipas said when asked about the key to sweeping the final set in 30 minutes. "I was much more able to deliver good tennis in the fourth set. I was able to stay resilient on each and every point."

Tsitsipas has been ridiculed by Andy Murray and Alexander Zverev for extended bathroom breaks seen as gamesmanship.

High winds and water drenched the grounds and wind-blown rain entered through upper corner openings under the closed roof of Louis Armstrong Stadium to suspend a second-round match between South African Kevin Anderson and Argentina's Diego Schwartzman.

WHERE TREES ARE UNDER THREAT

The survival of a wide range of species depends on trees, the foundation of an ecosystem and whose disappearance could trigger an ecological collapse. A new comprehensive global index, which aims to fill gaps in our knowledge of tree conservation, has revealed that a third of the world's tree species are threatened with extinction. Many are on the brink of being completely wiped out, some cut down to the last living individual. An hundred and forty-two tree species are extinct globally and nearly one-fifth of India's species are facing the same fate. We take a look at tree statistics worldwide. By Aravindakshan S

WHAT'S THREATENING TREES

Main threats to tree species assessed on the IUCN Red List, values in %

> Tree species that have evolved over millions of years, adapting to changing climates, can no longer survive the onslaught of human threats. How short-sighted are we to allow the loss of tree species on which global society is ecologically and economically dependent. If we could only learn to respect trees, undoubtedly many environmental challenges would greatly benefit

CLIMATE CHANGE IMPACT

The most unpredictable danger to trees is climate change, as it "has the potential to become the principal driver of collapse in most, if not all, types of forest ecosystem," wrote Adrian Newton, director of conservation ecology at Bournemouth University. Climate change can alter the "availability, temperature or acidity of water" and cause whole ecological communities to come undone

VIRGIN GALACTIC'S SPACE MISSION FLEW OFF COURSE: REPORT

TECHNOLOGY

A yellow warning light, followed by a red: Richard Branson's July 11 voyage to space experienced cockpit warnings about its rocket-powered ascent that could have jeopardized the mission, according to a new report by The New Yorker.

On Thursday, the US Federal Aviation Administration confirmed in a statement to AFP it was probing the flight because it had deviated from its planned trajectory.

"During its July 11, 2021 flight, the Virgin Galactic SpaceShipTwo vehicle deviated from its Air Traffic Control clearance as it returned to Spaceport America," the space base in New Mexico leased by the company. The confirmation came a day after The New Yorker published an explosive report by investigative journalist Nicholas Schmidle, which said the red light indicated the spaceplane's climb was too shallow and the nose was insufficiently vertical.

Without corrective action, the vessel would not have had enough energy to glide back to its runway. "According to multiple sources in the company, the safest way to respond to the warning would have been to abort," Schmidle wrote -- though Virgin has disputed this. Aborting would have dashed flamboyant billionaire Branson's hopes of beating rival Jeff Bezos, whose own flight was scheduled a few days later. The pilots did not abort and instead attempted to correct for the trajectory problem, now flying at Mach 3 with a red light on. The vessel went on to reach 85 km in altitude -- above the US definition of space -- and landed safely, but data retrieved from FlightRadar24 showed it had flown outside its designated path.

'Misleading'

"Whether or not (the pilots') decision was motivated by programmatic pressures and the hopes of their billionaire bankroller sitting in the back remains unclear," wrote Schmidle. Virgin Galactic told AFP it disputed the "misleading characterizations and conclusions in the New Yorker article." "When the vehicle encountered high altitude winds which changed the trajectory, the pilots and systems monitored the trajectory to ensure it remained within mission parameters".

Prehistoric Arabia drew early humans from Africa: Study

ARCHAEOLOGY

WASHINGTON: Sri Lanka's Huw Groucutt passes rolling sand dunes as far as his eye can see when traveling to archaeological sites in the northern Arabian Peninsula. But the same desert regions were once intermittently lush and green, attracting early humans and large animals such as hippopotamuses migrating out of Africa to linger at ancient lakes, new evidence suggests.

Until a decade ago, the Arabian Peninsula was a blank spot on the map for scientists trying to reconstruct the story of early human evolution and movements out of Africa. Much more is known about early human settlements in the Levant region — modern-day Israel, Jordan, Lebanon and parts of Syria — where extensive archaeological research has been carried out for more than a century.

But the Arabian Peninsula may have also played an important role as a bridge between Africa and Eurasia, a study Nature suggests.

"Arabia has not been part of the story of early human migration because so little work was done there before," said co-author Michael Petraglia, a paleolithic archaeologist at the Max Planck Institute for the Science of Human History in Jena, Germany. The research team included scientists from Germany, Saudi Arabia, Australia, the United Kingdom and elsewhere.

The impetus to look closely for archeological remains in the region came from satellite imagery that revealed traces of prehistoric lakes in now-arid regions.

"Flowing rivers and lakes, surrounded by grasslands and savannah, would have attracted animals and then the early humans that were in pursuit of them," said Petraglia.

GLOBAL UN DEAL ON PLASTIC

ENVIRONMENT

The European Union and other countries called Thursday for negotiations towards a legally-binding agreement to reduce plastic pollution, including the microplastics infesting oceans and waterways. Ministers attending a conference in Geneva hosted by the UN Environment Programme, UNEP, were presented with a draft resolution stressing the urgent need to address the global crisis. UNEP has warned that "our planet is drowning in plastic pollution", with the world today producing some 300 million tonnes of plastic waste every year. Since the 1950s, it has been estimated that some 8.3 billion tonnes of plastic have been produced, with around 60 percent of that tossed on landfills or into the natural environment. Millions of tonnes of plastic end up in our oceans each year, with the debris causing the deaths of more than a million seabirds annually, and over 100,000 marine mammals.

US WASTED 15 MN DOSES

MEDICINE

The World The United States has thrown away at least 15.1 million doses of Covid-19 vaccines since March 1, according to a report by NBC News. The figure is far higher than previously thought and probably still an undercount, because it is based on self-reported data from pharmacies, states and other providers, NBC said, quoting a response it received to a request for public data. At least seven states are missing from the figures, as well as major federal agencies. Reasons for dose wastage vary and include cracked vials, errors in diluting vaccines, freezer malfunctions and more doses in a vial than people who want them, with a limited window of a few hours to use a vial once it is punctured. The news comes as less-developed countries struggle to vaccinate their populations, with the continent of Africa just 2.8% fully vaccinated, as per public data.
